FORWORD

HANDS

- The past few years have brought a new feeling for the crafts and trades. The scarcity of jobs has created a desire for work of any sort in order that all may have an opportunity to earn a living and keep pride and self-respect.
- The glories of the white collar positions that flooded schools and colleges of 1929 with ambitious youths graduated with degrees in the professions have faded. Degrees failed to give these young people the places that they had worked for. The foresighted turned to the trades for a new start. And now manual endeavor, influenced by practical business principles, plays an important part in the schools and colleges.
- Pause to consider for a moment the infinite value of one's hands in connection with any line of life work. In checking over school activities it becomes obvious that one's hands play a great part in every day's routine. This edition of the Colonial has attempted to picture hands in various poses typical of academic, mechanical, and social life of the school.

THE PRESIDENTS' FORUM

The President's Forum, conducted bi-weekly by the president of each homeroom and the faculty sponsor, Miss Alice Colville, has accomplished much towards bettering Fairfax, and building character. Forums for homeroom discussions are drawn up by a committee of members composed of both faculty and students. These are reviewed by Miss Colville and the Lord High Commissioner at the meetings of the presidents, who then lead their respective classrooms in discussions based on the topics selected. Once a year Alumni, parents, and men and women from the business world who are interested in school activities are asked to speak to the homerooms.

In the fall term Lloyd Dunn, Lord High Commissioner, led the forum in discussing the various topics which included: Personality and Appearance, Education in America, and Leadership.

Under the guidance of Willard Huyck the forum reviewed in detail the "Use of Leisure Time", and from this main topic sub-topics came for each forum day.

The scholarship group at Fairfax High School is called the Promethean Society and is Chapter 140 of the California Scholarship Federation. The Society was organized ten years ago with the idea of rendering service to the school. In order to carry out this ideal the Prometheans tutor students who need assistance in their studies. This makes a higher rating for the school as well as for the individual students aided in this manner.

Three "A's" in preparatory subjects and not lower than a "B" in each non-preparatory class are the requirements for membership. In reward for their accomplishments and services, the Prometheans are permitted to hold one meeting a month and one picnic each year at Brookside Park.

One of the most important projects of the group as a whole consists of sending Thanksgiving baskets to needy families. At the winter holidays the organization donates a large Christmas tree to Hammel Street School, Fairfax's adopted elementary school.

THE PROMETHEAN SOCIETY

During the year various activities were sponsored by the group, among which was a special Promethean edition of the school weekly, published May 31. At the monthly meetings many notable speakers have appeared, and recently Fairfax was represented at a California Scholarship Federation Convention held at Occidental College.

Fairfax is proud to be graduating this summer three students who have been members of the Society since coming here in the ninth grade, making them eight term Prometheans. In order to become a member of the California Scholarship Federation a student must be a member of the School's scholarship group four semesters, one of which must be a Senior semester.

In the 1934 fall term the Prometheans were headed by Ethel Dalgas, and in the spring semester the Society was led by Lorraine Enyart. Mrs. Phyllis Davis, faculty sponsor, reports that there are fifteen fourth term members, thirteen, fifth term; six, sixth term; one seventh term, and three, eighth term, for this year.

W'35 ON PARADE

Members of the W'35 class came forward to claim their supremacy under the guidance of Harry Snow. Miss Beulah Scheck served as faculty sponsor and was unofficially titled the "Senior Honey."

The yearly tea, first social of the season, was given for the parents of the seniors with girls from the W'35 and S'35 classes officiating as hostesses. Miss Katherine Carey, assistant superintendent for the district in which Fairfax is located, was the guest of honor. An excellent program in the auditorium preceded the reception and tea.

The musical review "Melody Cruise," was presented by the Senior A's at their formal debut. The W'35 production had the advantage over all of its predecessors, for songs and dances were not limited to one country. Favorite melodies were heard as the Good Ship Fairfax sailed the high seas for the ports of Hawaii, Russia, Italy, and Argentina. Henceforth, the members of the class were distinguished by dazzling red sweaters of the brush wool variety bearing grey emblems.

The class took the responsibility of forwarding the Community Chest campaign and presented to those of the student body who had donated their quota, the picture "Here Comes the Navy."

The lowly Senior B's extended challenges for a girls' and boys' casaba toss-up, the annual sack rush, and a scholarship contest. The W'35s were defeated in the display of muscular ability, but were superior for their grade standings and merit records.

A galaxy of smartly decked feminists and escorts turned out for the W'35 Military Ball which was staged in the gaily decorated girls' gymnasium. The dance was held by graduating cadet officers, and proved to be one of the most successful events of the semester.

The traditional "30" luncheon, held for the graduating students of journalism, had Mr. Edward Martin, "Cinemania" of the Citizen-News, as guest speaker, and Mr. Joseph Polonsky as guest of honor. This brought to a climax the activities of the W'35 class.

S'35 Sweaters

"Flirtation Walk" was the starring vehicle for the change of Colorday procedure. Instead of the usual Color Day program, the Senior A's now have a picture as the excuse for the assembly at which they display their class sweaters.

S'35 OFFICERS

Dick Connell, President; Bill Hamilton, Vice-President; Rae Howard, Secretary; Harlan Palmer, Treasurer.

S'35 STEALS THE SHOW

The S'35 congregation started out in the Senior "B" term by walking away with the boys' casaba and the girls' basketball game, piling up a lofty score in the sackrush, and finally producing the prize winning bewhiskered male for the Beard Contest. The S'35ers stole a march on "burning issues" by presenting the class colors first. Joe Brown in the "Circus Clown" brought the Senior "B" term to a close.

The class started on its eventful Senior "A" term with the presentation of "Flirtation Walk." And henceforth the campus was dotted with members of the class decked out in blue action coat sweaters with white leather buttons.

The great accomplishment of both Senior "B's" and "A's" was the musical comedy "A Night in Gay Vienna." In the surroundings of an old inn and later at a royal ball, the plot of the story was staged.

The Annual May Day Dance was held in the gayly decorated girls' gym and the crowning of the May king and queen climaxed the affair.

In the first ten weeks of the S'35 term the Senior "A's" were the leaders in the Senior scholarship contest and temporarily annihilated the Senior "B's" in the sack rush.

The "30" luncheon came as the final social event of the class and the last week of high school life was spent in graduation rehearsals and annual inscribing.

SENIOR B OFFICERS

Bradley Kendis, President; Patricia Riley, Treasurer; June Erb, Secretary; Robert Hines, Vice-President.

W'36 RECRUITS

The Senior "B's" emerged from the ranks of under classmen to acclaim themselves the W'36 graduating class. They functioned under the guidance of Mrs. Bowers, faculty sponsor, and Bradley Kendis, president.

To present their colors, brown and yellow, to the student body the Senior "B's" showed the motion picture "One Night of Love", starring Grace Moore. This event was heralded with such great publicity that the Senior "A's" were forced to sit up and take notice. A skit was given at an earlier date in which one boy of the class was supposedly held on the charge of impersonating Grace Moore. Scenes from the picture were exhibited in the show cases.

The sack rush and scholarship contest left the Senior "A's" victorious but outshone by the glitter of the new Senior "B" pins.

Mid pretzels and beer mugs, innkeepers and cute waitresses, officers and a princess, and dancing and singing, "A Night in Gay Vienna" was a night not soon forgotten, especially by the "B's" and "A's" who took part. This extravaganza presented by the combined Senior classes introduced the new policy of annual, bigger and better, color days.

The last week of school saw the Senior "A's" bidding adios and the Senior "B's" becoming practically Senior "A's" at last.

THE STAFF

The annual staff went into action this year with one ambition, always imperative—make the 1935 Colonial "All-American" in every way.

In consequence we are presenting various innovations that we feel will meet with the approval of the Colonial student body. Among these new additions and improvements are the girls' sport section, a complete faculty division, a brief explanatory review of each activity, new lay-outs, something original in features, and informal shots on the Senior panels. All of which means a bigger and better book. These accomplishments have become reality only through the work and guidance of Mr. Underwood, faculty sponsor.

Now at this time the staff takes great pride in presenting what we feel certain will rate among the students as a *book.

THE ANNUAL STAFF Includes: Back Row: O. Backer, B. Krom, Lilly Shafton, A. Commagere, H. Underwood. Front Row: P. Harlan, H. Bradley, M. Bub, T. Lindholm, L. Eisberg, B. Stemple, M. Ford.

LILLY EISBERG, BUSINESS MANAGER

The keeping of records of sales, making the sales themselves, and many other routine duties become the lot of the business manager.

PHYLLIS HARLAN, FAIRFAX FEMS

This new division of the book has been entrusted to Phil because of her intimate knowledge of the workings of the various feminine organizations.

JACK SHAFTON, STAFF ARTIST

The informal sketches which adorn the book are the work of Jack's pen. Always versatile, Jack seems to be able to draw everything but a salary.

AL COMMAGERE, ADVERTISING AND SPORTS

Just why Al should be interested in the two subjects is hard to tell, but he is the best advertising manager we captured in these parts. No, he's not asleep, just playing possum because he claims that he sleeps with his mouth shut, and microscopic study proved it's open here.

MARJORIE BUB, COPY

Marjorie is seen looking into the top drawer of the file. She probably is wondering whether or not some copy is lost in the file. (That means filed properly.)

HELEN BRADLEY, PICTURES

Helen may be too old for paper dolls but she certainly knows how to paste pictures. The Senior panels are the work of her hands.

COLONIAL GAZETTE

The Colonial Gazette, Fairfax student newspaper, is published weekly by two staff classes, under the supervision of Mrs. Jessie R. Stromberger, faculty advisor, and a student editor and assistants.

The winter term found Florence Shapiro, editor-in-chief, supported by Mitchell Covell in the capacity of advisory editor. During this semester the two staff classes were not divided according to experience, but were indiscriminately mixed groups.

However, the summer term, with Billie Fisk at the helm, and Rodney Pain as advisor, saw many innovations in the paper. The front page make-up was materially changed. Double-column editorials in larger type were introduced for the first time, and the popular columns were given attractive cuts. The staff classes, too, were changed, and the students divided according to experience and length of service.

Altogether, the innovations were for the better, and will remain permanent, having met with approval from both faculty and students.

Sending out daily the news stories as they break, the publicity staff of Fairfax corresponds with the Hollywood Citizen-News and the several neighborhood weeklies. Each student is assigned to a newspaper, and it is his duty to see that the news arrives in time to make the paper's deadline. Under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Stromberger, Rodney Pain, Commissioner of Publicity for the winter term, and Bernice Sewell, for the summer, assigned newspapers to the various students.

Featuring an illustration in two shades of blue for each of the five sections, the Creative Writing Yearbook proved to be a bigger and better publication. The Yearbook, edited by the Literary Lions, and containing contributions written by students, was divided into five sections: Humor, Adventure, Romance, Nature, and The Student Looks at Life. It is published each spring term, and has Jeanette Wilson as editor this term.

THE YEAR BOOK STAFF Includes: D. Brandon, I. Fraynd, J. Wilson, L. Gilman, E. Snell.

FINE ARTS

THE PRINCIPALS OF "THE HOTTENTOT" GO INTO ACTION!

SENIOR PLAY

WONDERFUL SMITH HANDLED THE
"STEP AND FETCH IT" ROLE OF
PERKINS, THE GROOM, IN HIS OWN INIMITABLE FASHION.

Fairfax has three drama classes. Drama I is open to all upper division students and they may take it as an elective. Drama II is comprised of students who take part in the annual three-act play or the yearly Senior Extravaganza. Drama III is for the students who have made the grade in Drama I or II, and this class works on one-act plays and skits for assemblies.

With the coming of "The Hottentot," that holy terror of horseflesh, to the staid halls of Fairfax, the interest of the student body turned to horses.

The play, one of the most amusing ever to be produced in the Colonial auditorium, was about the complicated happenings when a man who hated horses falls in love with a girl who has spent most of her life on the back of one. From the hero's comic entrance to the thrilling steeplechase at the climax, the play was most entertaining.

Emanuel Kenny, as Sam Harrington, the unfortunate hater of horses who was forced to overcome his fear in order to win the girl, was made to order for the part. Helen Hoy made Peggy Fairfax a real and likable character.

Minor parts were played by Betty Lou Callahan in the part of Mrs. Carol Chadwick, a frivolous widow; Glenn Bell as Sam's rival; June Fletcher as May Gilford, hostess of the leading characters, and Bob Wilhelm as her brother-in-law. The role of Alex Fairfax, brother of the heroine, was enacted by Denton Catterlin. The part of Swift, the butler, taken by Zareh Kiragh, was one of the most amusing bits of the show.

HELEN HOY WAS THE WINSOME STAR OF "THE HOTTENTOT" AND THE BLONDE MENACE OF "THE MELODY CRUISE".

"ALL ABOARD!" THE S.S. FAIRFAX EMBARKS ON "THE MELODY CRUISE"

MELODY CRUISE

SINGER FROM OLD MEXICO

With eighty-five people in costume and a chorus of voices backstage, the Color Day offered the opportunity for participation of at least half the class. There was a greater variety of dress than in any other previous color day.

"The Melody Cruise" on the good Ship S. S. Fairfax, carried on a trip to romantic lands, winners of an essay contest from Hollywood, Beverly, Fairfax, and Los Angeles high schools. Hawaii, Argentina, Japan, Russia, and Italy, ports of call, brought an entertainment of tangos, cariocas, Russian dances, and puddle nites at Waikiki, set to catchy melodies.

Ida May Webb and Glenn Bell as Carol and Ralph, took the romantic leads. Helen Hoy as the blonde menace from Hollywood High threatened their happiness, but later renews her engagement to Ed, played by Emmanuel Kenney. Aileen Haley, who in a comedy was portrayed as a psychology co-ed, and Archie, the sailor, played by Eugene Seilers furnished a bit of amusing romance.

Gilbert Benson, as captain of the boat, and Wilbur Hunt as an absent-minded professor, enacted roles of importance.

The costumes of this musical production were very colorful. White grass skirts and colored leis were worn by the hula dancers, and the soloist wore a skirt of bright yellow celophane. In the Japanese parasol number, brightly flowered pink and red kimonos and black wigs were used. Those in the Italian routine wore vividly colored peasant costumes, and the couples in the waltz number were attired in formal wear.

The most complete scenario, the cleverest dialogue, the most expensive and longest Extravaganza, the most elaborate costumes, and the most colorful settings, made "A Night in Gay Vienna," one of the best musical comedies presented at Fairfax.

For the first time, students of both Senior A and B classes were in the cast, which gave better financial as well as talented foundation for the production. Jane Richter and Joe Fitts, as the disguised Princess Marie Kristina, and Lieutenant Rudolf Von Seilar, respectively, were in the lead. Other roles of importance were filled by Denton Catterlin, Betty Berry, Jean Matthiessen, Ruth Brumme, Bob Hampton, Charles Laraway, Stanley Price, Carolyn Entriken, Evans Thornton, Margaret Hansen, Zareh Kiragh, Barbara Berreau, and Don Davis.

The two scenes included one of an outdoor cafe on the Danube with a charming courtyard, and the brilliant ball set as the Von Schweizerberg palace. The note in costumes ran the gamut from colorful peasant's dress to the ball gowns of satins and silks with drop shoulders, tight bodices, and long sweeping trains. Officers wore dark blue uniforms with double rows of silver buttons, and high blue military hats with visors.

The plot of the romance was woven about the love of a princess for a lieutenant and her discovery that he loved her, not for her money, but for herself. The three waitresses and leading officers offer comedy relief as the girls plot to win the hearts of these merry comrades.

Each semester they work up a repertoire in order to sing at various functions, both at school, and outside of school. This term the Girls' club, under the direction of Miss Sallie Mason, had the honor of being requested to perform at the Pasadena Music Teachers' Convention. The Boys' club, under the direction of Mrs. McLaughlin, have demonstrated its talents at general assemblies. At the end of this semester, the combined clubs presented a program depicting gypsy life with songs and dances.

The principal duty of the Fairfax band is to play for assemblies, football games, and the R.O.T.C. Every year Mr. Rice has the job of making a good band out of the material at hand and we all agree that he has done a good job.

THE ORCHESTRA

The orchestra is under the capable direction of Mr. T. O. Rice. The most important work each term is the Color Day. For the first ten weeks the entire time is devoted to the music needed in the extravaganza and when the play is near production, the musicians stay after school, rehearsing. An added feature this term was playing for the Play Day.

Coach Frank Shaffer is sponsor of the Fairfax group. The club presents a semi-annual show in which Harry Sosnik's well-known orchestra and entertainers were presented in the fall. In the spring term the faculty men enacted the story of "Wild Nell" or "The Pet of the Plains." There is a week set aside for Hi-Y shoe shining and initiations. Reports are made from first hand information on culture, folklore, and customs. The meeting usually includes a puppet show based on some German folk story, which is followed with refreshments to close the meeting.

PRESS CLUB

One of the most active organizations at Fairfax is the Press club. The meetings which are held several times a month, are beneficial to the ones interested in following this line as a profession. The thirty-five members are not all Latin students, as anyone who is interested in the ancient classics is invited to attend. They make a point of learning the interesting facts of Roman life and government which there is no time to cover in class. Their spicy meetings are always brought to a brilliant close by refreshments.

FRENCH CLUB

The purpose of this club is to associate its members with the customs, and traditions of France. French is spoken exclusively while in the club, and any student taking French in school is eligible to membership. Miss Hart ably sponsors this organization. Parties and entertainments are presented for the club members at intervals throughout each term beside their regular monthly meeting.

THE SPANISH CLUB

When in the midst of Spanish atmosphere it is always customary for a Spanish Club member to say "Buenos dias!" After the cordial greetings, usually muttered in Spanish-English the meeting proceeds.

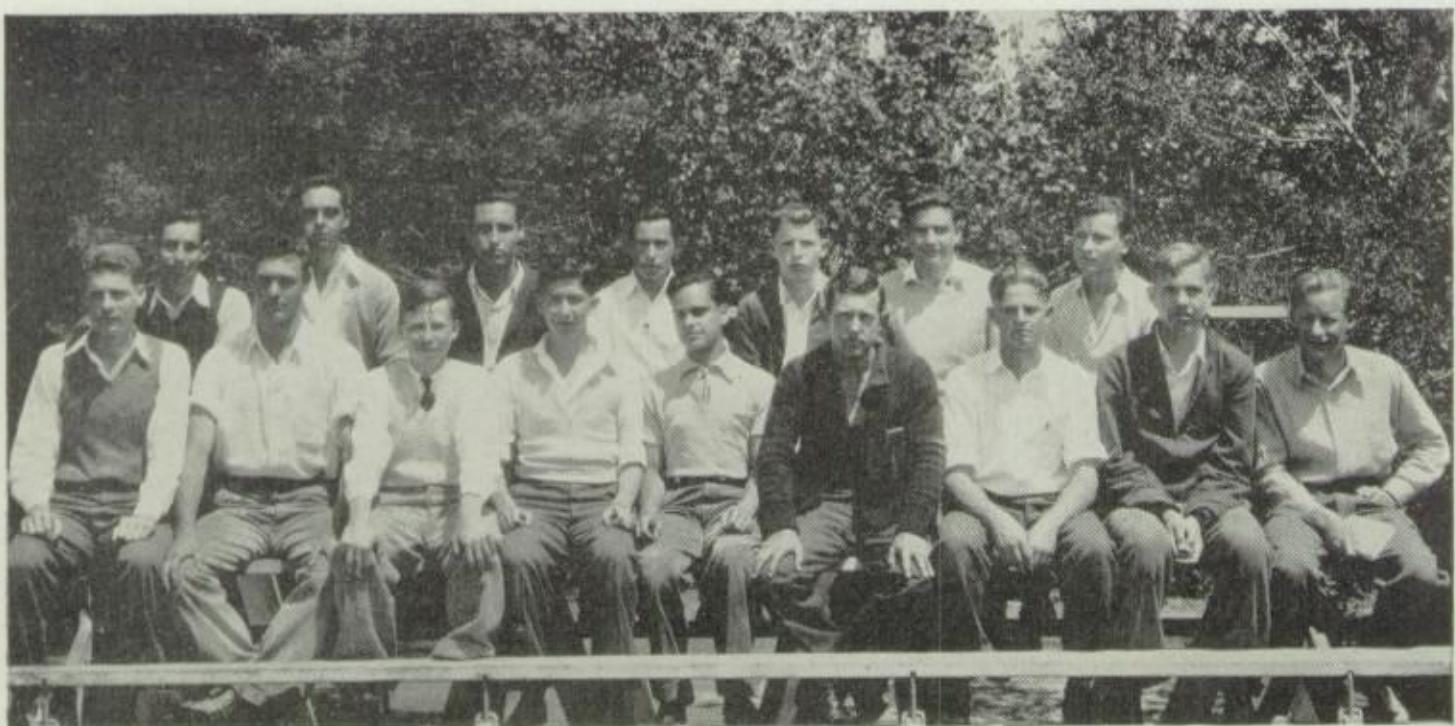

Miss Aiken who is "la directora del club", urges her "jovenes y jovencitas" speaking in Spanish, to attend plays and tune in on Spanish programs, whose announcers speak too fluently for the students to understand.

LITERARY LIONS

The sponsor of the Literary Lions is Mr. Goddard. The president is Earl Snell. The purpose of the club is to promote writing and continuity. At meetings the "masterpieces" of the members who have contributed are reviewed. Every two weeks they publish a paper containing poems, stories, and epitaphs that have been given or turned in for that purpose. They also have a column in the Gazette. Another interesting fact is that in order to insure attendance of all members refreshments are served every two weeks at the meeting. The club consists of about twenty members.

Each member is required to work two hours a day while at the Forestry camp. The camp is located about four miles above Switzerland Tourist Camp in the Angeles National Forest.

USHERS

This year the Fairfax ushers were chosen from the R.O.T.C. The boys are present at all the aud calls, plays given by the school at night, and special assemblies. In the regular aud calls they keep order while passing in and out, and also collect the attendance slips from the home room teachers. Inasmuch as the order in assemblies has been very good this year, it is probable that the R.O.T.C. will furnish the ushers in the future.

The stage crew of Fairfax is very luckily composed of a small group of very competent boys, under the instructive supervision of Mr. G. G. Lee. These boys regulate the lighting effects, properties, and curtains, besides aiding in many expedient emergencies. This work affords the members of this group an excellent opportunity for valuable experience.

The Treasurers' office, besides maintaining a banking service for the school, handles all carbook and ticket sales, orders all purchases for the student body, pays all bills, prepares profit statements and other reports, and keeps accounting records for all student body activities and some thirty club organizations. The receipts and disbursements of this office amounts to over one hundred and twenty thousand dollars per year. The work is done by selected students under the supervision of Mr. Vodra.

CANDY STAND

The candy stand is one of the functions of Fairfax which stresses complete student government. The Manager, Viola Reich, chooses her assistants from girls eligible for positions, and places them according to accuracy, personality, and ability. The members of the candy stand sell candies, ice creams, and change money. The registers, inventories, and orders for refills are all completed by the girls under the supervision of Viola. For a person going into office work in later life, much experience can be gained in the offices around school.

CAFETERIA WORKERS

The Cafeteria workers are chosen for their ability to execute their duties faithfully and well. It is very essential that they be present every day. A full hour's work must be done daily by each one, and if their main duties do not occupy the required time, they are put to work drying dishes. They must be very quick-witted when handling money and must always appear neat, clean, and pleasing to the eye.

COLOR GUARD

R. O. T. C.

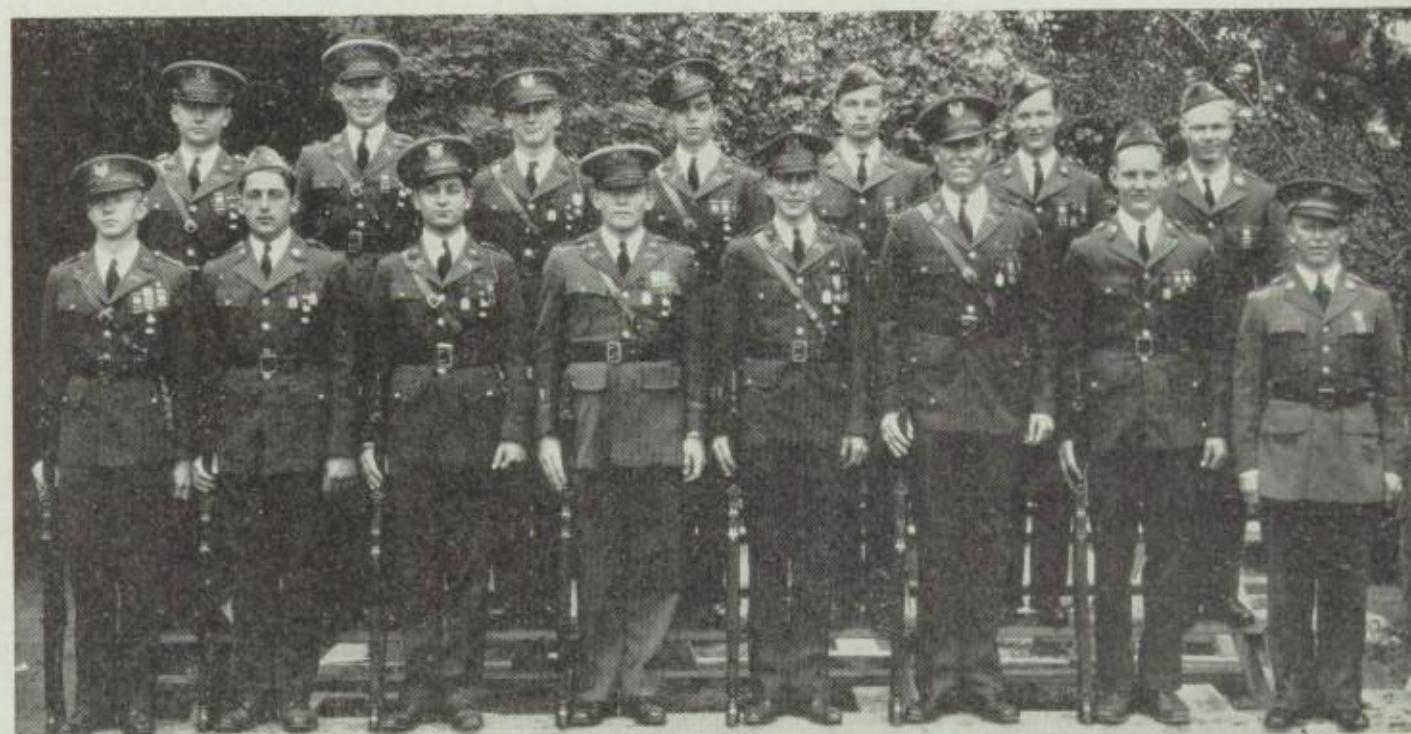

Starting out the new semester in September by wearing the new uniforms of slacks and blouses, the R.O.T.C. unit was organized into A, B, and C Companies. Work was immediately started and the new men were instructed in first aid, military courtesy, and rifle marksmanship. After the term was under way, competitive firing for the rifle team was started.

Over week-ends, Major Sliney inaugurated a series of horseback rides in which many of the men took part. On November 9, the unit, led by Cadet Major Robert Sinclair, took part in the exercises in observance of Armistice Day, held before the student body on Van Cleve Field. Preceding the Christmas holidays competitions were opened to the men. They were: Best drilled platoon, best sergeant, best shot among the new students. The awards were to be made on January 25 at the Military Ball, sponsored by the Sabre and Chevron Club.

Robert Davis was announced as Cadet Major of the unit for the spring semester. Preparations were immediately started for the Federal inspection to be held later in the term. On March 15, the ten highest men on the rifle team were presented with medals by Principal Van Cleve, while the members of "B" Company were presented with awards for winning the Proving their worth as hosts, the unit sponsored a Girls' League Dance on May 29. The Fairfax R.O.T.C. unit joined Hollywood High's unit in a Decoration Day parade, sponsored by the American Legion. The line of march led down Hollywood Boulevard to Vine Street; thence to Santa Monica Boulevard, and the Hollywood Cemetery, where exercises were held. Many R.O.T.C. members took part in the Decoration Day assembly at school the following morning.

Socially inclined members of the unit attended the all-city R.O.T.C. Ball.

The Girls' organizations of the school consist of The Girls' League, Girls' Friendship Club, Girls' Athletic Association, The Euodia, and The Nightingale Club.

Every girl automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League when she enters Fairfax. This is the only organization which practices this method of securing members. It has as its aim the raising of money enough through dances, collection of dues, and other activities to take food and clothing to the unfortunate children at Hammel Street School. The clothes are gathered together by means of a school-wide "Old Clothes Campaign." This is held at least once a year and usually twice. Hammel Street School is the school Fairfax adopted to take care of in the way of clothes, food, and toys around Christmas time.

In the Girls' Friendship Club one works in connection with the Girls' League with its further aim to promote more hospitality and friendship among the students and teachers in the school.

The G.A.A. is strictly an athletic association for the girls, having as its purpose the bringing about of the development of stronger and better bodies and minds. The girls join the club with the idea in mind of bettering themselves and earning a letter and stars. It is one of the most active organizations that is open to the girls.

The Euodia Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Elizabeth Keyes, is comprised of a group of girls who are interested in devoting their time to the study of the Testament. A Convention of The Los Angeles Euodia Clubs is held annually, at which time one of the thirteen club representatives has the distinction of being chosen the best one-minute speaker. The girls are very much interested in the functions of their organization, and are enjoying rapid progress in becoming known throughout the school.

The Girls' League Cabinet is sponsored by Mrs. Marguerite Behrman and is composed of twelve members. It is the governing body under which the Girls' League representatives act as the go-between between the Cabinet and their home-rooms.

Hammel Street School is the officially adopted school of Fairfax and is supplied with food, candy, and toys at Christmas time, baskets of food at Thanksgiving, and layettes during the spring.

The Girls' League Representatives are chosen from each home-room to represent their individual home-room in the weekly meetings held on each Friday. These representatives see that the baskets are well taken care of at Christmas and Thanksgiving and also help in the making of the layettes.

The Girls' Friendship Club extends a welcoming hand to newcomers and aids them in becoming acquainted with the regulations and campus of Fairfax. Any girl is eligible for membership. Meetings are held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. The meetings consist of business discussion, entertainment, and refreshments.

The Euodia Club was organized for the development of Christian character, through Bible study and helpful associations. There are many such clubs for girls in Southern California high schools, and the events in which they join during the year give opportunities for making worthwhile acquaintances in other schools, as well as much profit and inspiration.

The Club is non-sectarian, and all girls are welcomed to its weekly meetings, or to membership. Its pin represents an open Bible, with the Club motto, II Cor. 2:14.

The Nightingale Club was organized with the idea in view of raising money enough to build a more or less Hospital bungalow for both boys and girls to rest in when they are too ill to stay in class. The girls are working very hard to reach their goal which will be a great benefit to the school. Mrs. Marguerite Behrman is the sponsor.

THE SPRING INSTALLATION OF THE GIRLS' LEAGUE CABINET brought V. Shipley, A. Weiss, H. Teuchert, M. Ford, J. Wilson, M. Griffin, L. Gilman, E. M. Griffith, P. Payne, J. Erb, R. Powell, V. Hoag, and N. Wing into office.

G. A. A.

The G.A.A. is the activity for the girls which corresponds with sports for the boys. Its aim is to cultivate and develop better minds and bodies. For this reason there is no wonder that some of the more representative girls are members.

The activities of the club are such that any girl really interested in organized athletics and genuine good times is more than enthusiastic to belong. During the different seasons a variety of sports are among the offered which makes it possible for everyone to be satisfied. Speedball, basketball, tennis, baseball, volleyball, field hockey, and archery are among the selections from which one might choose.

Playdays, one of the main functions of the association, are looked upon with joy by all of the girls. They mean extraordinarily good times for everyone. Several schools are invited to attend, and then the crack teams of the schools compete in the games. Afterwards, enticing tidbits are offered as means of ending a perfect day.

The G.A.A. of Fairfax will always be symbolic of higher sportsmanship and fair play in the world of athletics.

The G.A.A. Board consists of active members of the association who have been either elected or appointed to their positions. The Commissioner of Athletics, who is usually the president of the G.A.A., has the duty of presiding over all Board meetings and representing the organization in the Colonial Council and Girls' League Cabinet.

The Vice-President's duty is to take charge of Playdays and other social functions, while the Secretary keeps the minutes of the Board meetings and records all points credited to G.A.A. members.

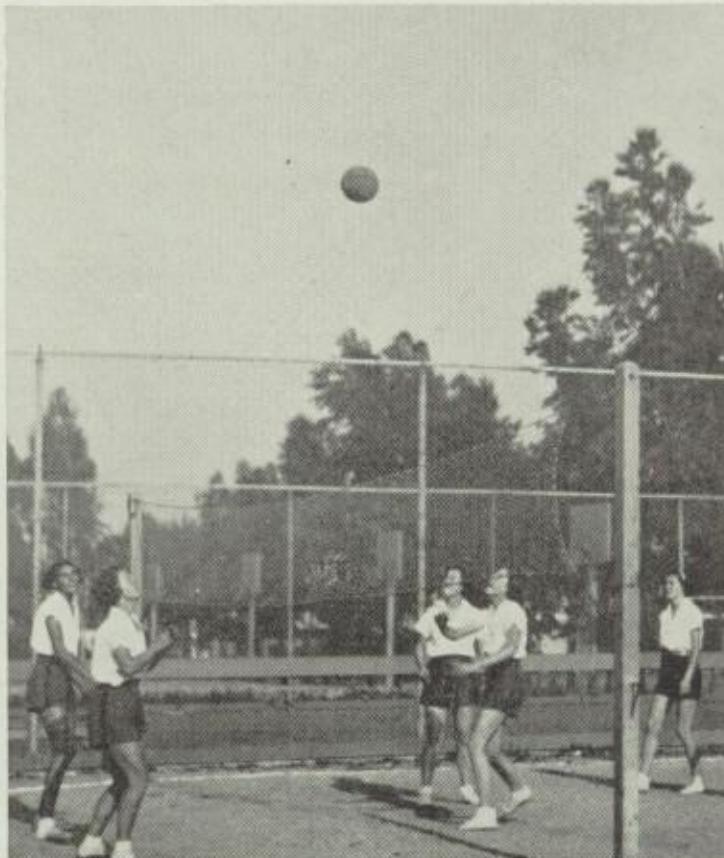

It is the business of the Treasurer to collect all dues, and of the Historian to keep a scrap book of the events which take place each semester.

Other valuable members of the Board are the Heads of Sports who assist the Coach in refereeing, umpiring, and coaching. The Heads of Sports are usually chosen for their outstanding ability in that particular sport and their dependability.

The President of the Lettergirls Club also sits at the Board meetings, and her main work is to preside at Lettergirls Club meetings and carry on their functions.

The Head of Publicity writes the Girls' Sport Column for the school paper, and the Yell Leader composes new songs and yells and leads them at Playdays and other activities.

The aim of every G.A.A. member is to be able to wear her letter "F." In order to attain this distinction she must earn 500 points by excelling in sports, consistent attendance, recommended grades, and active participation in the G.A.A. activities.

Each star requires 200 additional points which are earned in the same manner. Not many stars are ever earned because it is not the easiest thing to earn 200 points.

This year with Pat Riley as presiding officer, the Lettergirls have enjoyed different social activities which are a part of the yearly functions of the organization. They wish the student body to remember the fact that the letters on the beautiful blue sweaters which they have been donning around school denote the girls' outstanding ability in athletics, and are not "B" letters belonging to members of the "weaker opposite sex."

Basketball season is always greeted with great enthusiasm by the members of the G.A.A. It is one of the most popular sports the year 'round for the girls. There are usually ten or twelve very outstanding new girls each term to add to our number of crack players.

The regulation three-court basketball for girls is played with great skill by the members of the Fairfax basketball teams. The team chosen to represent Fairfax in the Playdays has done nobly for it won every game at every Playday it attended.

Although many people retain the idea that Volleyball is an uninteresting and quite slow-moving game, the G.A.A. girls, under the able supervision of Betty Hull, Head of Volleyball, have been able to perfect their game to the point of making it animated and fascinating to spectators. Volleyball is non-seasonal, being played continually throughout the entire school year and is rapidly becoming popular with all of the girls who are fond lovers of sport.

Action! This is the keyword of speedball as played by members of the G.A.A. This sport is a combination of basketball and soccer, played with eleven members on each team; five forwards, and three half-backs playing on the offensive, and two full-backs and goal-tender taking care of the defense. The game is played with a soccer ball and players must be careful to refrain from touching the ball with their hands unless by catching it on a fly. Marion Pritchard, assisted by Dolly Vaughan and Rosalyn Bernstein, have devoted a great deal of their time and effort in coaching and refereeing the games. A round-robin of games is held each season and the members of the winning team receive ten points toward their letter or star.

Hockey, although a rather dangerous game, may be one of the most thrilling, active, and yet, safe sports of all athletics. A team consists of eleven players; five in the forward line, which is purely offensive attack; three half-backs, whose business is to back up the forward line; two fullbacks, who guard the approach to the goal; and the goalee, or goal keeper, who is the last resort for the team's defense. Some girls have trouble keeping their positions and also keeping their sticks beneath the height of their shoulder. This seems to be the only real danger in the game. Of course the ball is very hard but one seems to be more able to dodge a ball than a hockey stick.

Baseball season is always welcome because it has universal popularity and always carries with it a pack of thrills to the fond lovers of the old sport. Fairfax has always been noted for the fine sluggers that she has.

During the short baseball season there is just barely time to really become acquainted with the best players but there is time enough to choose the first team and the girls who have the distinction of being members of the first team receive their reward in 100 points toward their letter.

Tennis is under the able supervision of Shirlen (Skip) Atkin, that fast star of the Fairfax courts. Although there has not been organized a Tennis Club this year the girls are practicing-up to have a crack Club next year. This means when we go to the Playdays next year there will be no worry in our hearts that we might not win the tennis matches.

With Mrs. Whiting as sponsor and Pat Wassweiler as president, the girls of the Archery Club have been meeting once a week for the purpose of becoming skillful with the bow and arrow. Each term this organization carries on active work, and is composed of those girls who attain the highest scoring in archery. It is an auxiliary of the G.A.A. and has the privilege of participating in the Playdays and numerous other activities of this association.

This term the club has inaugurated a new policy of appointing a committee to serve as acting hostesses of the week and prepare refreshments for the meetings, thus reviving the members after their drastic efforts to score bulls eyes. The girls are intensely interested in their work and are progressing rapidly in becoming adroit archers.

THE COLONIALS GO TO TOWN

FAIRFAX VS. BEVERLY

What a start for the season! Ironically enough the first game was against the favorite of the Western League. The Colonials travelled to the Normans' field very much the underdogs, but four quarters of good, strong team play upset more than one "Sunday morning quarterback's" dope sheet. Fairfax received the kick-off in the first quarter and there followed a series of long runs during which Harrison gained fifty yards in two plays. The Colonials carried the pigskin down to the Beverly fifteen yard line, but there the opposition stiffened and the Lions were held on downs. Beverly scored first in the second quarter after Bill Peplow's punt set the Colonials on their heels in Coffin Corner. Stonebraker's return punt was blocked in the end zone, resulting in two points for the Normans.

At the beginning of the third quarter, the Norman fumbled on the first play; Fairfax recovered on the Beverly twenty-four yard line. Stonebraker received a pass on the fifteen yard line from Clifford; Harrison plunged to the right. Then another pass from Clifford to Barbey into the end zone netted the desired six points. The conversion was blocked. In the fourth quarter, Beverly made a desperate attempt for another score, but Snow intercepted a pass on the thirty-two yard line, cutting off all hopes. The clean, hard fighting of both teams was noticeable throughout the entire game. Final score: Fairfax 6—Beverly 2.

FAIRFAX VS. LOS ANGELES

The L.A. jinx broken at last! Probably remembering the trouble met at the second game last year, the Colonials travelled to the Roman's field a fighting determined team. Scoring in the first quarter, making the conversion, and then holding the Romans for the rest of the game put Fairfax on equal standing with Hollywood. The touchdown came after the Lions smashed across forty-two yards of turf in four plays. Harrison was injured during the drive and had to remain on the bench for the rest of the game. He was capably replaced by Snow who made lengthy gains. In the second quarter, Phinney, Colonial center, blocked a punt and recovered it on the Roman fifteen yard stripe. This put Fairfax in good scoring position 'till Snow fumbled on the next play.

At the beginning of the second half L.A. came to life and the Colonials spent the rest of the afternoon chasing mad Romans all over the field. They managed to get the ball down to the Fairfax three yard line, but there the valiant warriors were held for no gain. In the fourth quarter both teams threatened, but nothing was done about it. The over-excited Colonials were well-peppered with penalties throughout the entire game, but the gun popped while the Colonials were on the long end of the score (and was Rome Burned!). Final score 7-0.

FAIRFAX VS. HAMILTON

In what should have been a very lop-sided contest, the Colonials barely managed to grab a victory. The loose, haphazard playing was probably due to the fact that nearly every member of the team had suffered injuries in one of the two preceding games. The lone tally came during the first two minutes of play when Ashar galloped over the goal for a touchdown.

Once only did the Federalists threaten and that was during the second quarter, when, upon the completion of two passes, they found themselves on the Colonial twenty yard stripe, only to be held for downs. Fairfax, on the other hand, had many chances to score during the first half, but the team lacked a certain something that was needed to carry the pig-skin over.

With the beginning of the second quarter, Fairfax began to show some of the zeal that had made the other games memorable, but it was like a fire that flares up and then dies out. Too, the Lions were slapped with severe penalties at crucial moments, undoing all the good.

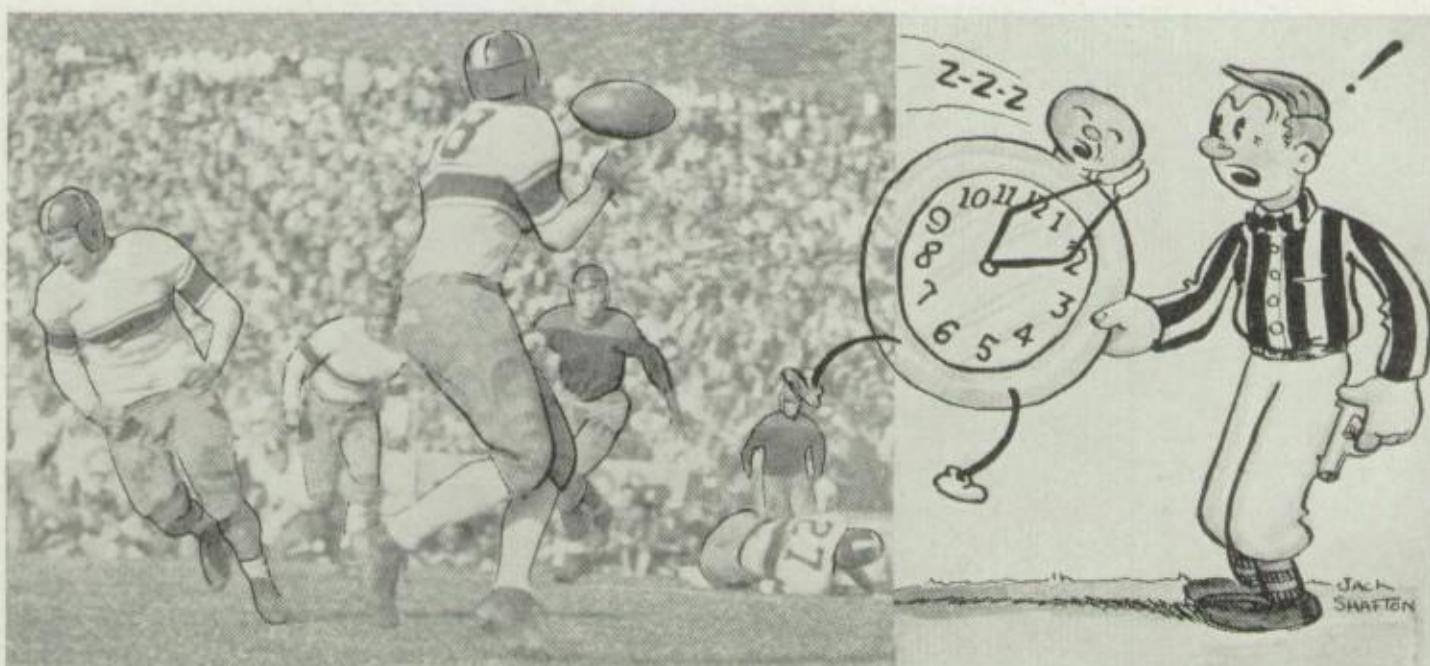

More than one spectator commented that the team was beginning to get excited with the ominous shadow of Seiling—pardon me, I mean Hollywood, looming seven days in the distance. Final score 6-0.

FAIRFAX VS. HOLLYWOOD

In a game that kept 10,000 howling fans on the verge of collapse, Vic Kelley's well-trained Redshirts barely managed to beat the fighting Colonial Eleven. Despite all the talk of Hollywood's super-system, Fairfax disturbed the Redshirts no end. While the game was played on the ground both teams were evenly matched, but when Hollywood took the air they had it all to themselves. The first three quarters were packed with breath-taking runs, and unexpected plays. Both teams threatened during these periods but each side had worked up a good defense that could not be penetrated. However, toward the end of the fourth quarter Hollywood started to click. Starting from their own thirty-nine, Melendey, Maiser, J. Stonebraker, L. Bach, B. Holborrow, F. Pryor, H. Gardner, E. Barbe, H. Forte, J. Reed, J. Perrin, V. Toomey.

IN THE FOURTH QUARTER HOLLYWOOD TOOK TO THE AIR—TIME MARCHES ON?

Seiling, and Webb worked down to the Colonial thirty-nine in four plays. Seiling again heaved a long one to Combell who was down on the eighteen; with two more short passes they were down on the twelve. Then with everyone watching for a pass into the end zone, Bell called Cutherland to follow thru a hole at right guard—and what a hole that was, for the Lions were scattered all over the field.

Although the closing minutes of the game were heartbreaking, Fairfax played heads-up football and every spectator left the game with the feeling that our boys had outdone themselves, trying to win. Even the time-keeper enjoyed himself so much that he let the game run four minutes over time. Final score 0-6.

FAIRFAX VS. JEFFERSON

The Colonials set out to avenge last year's defeat in a big way and they came home with a nice victory. The first score came in the starting quarter, when Clifford sent a 30 yard pass into the arms of Johnny Stonebraker, who lost no time in scoring. The conversion failed. As if they were not content with a six point lead, the Colonials started right out after another tally. Leonard Bach crashed through the Jefferson line and blocked a punt; the ball sailed into the air and came down into the arms of Stonebraker who galloped to the Democrats 2 yard line. A five-yard penalty almost upset the Lion's plans, but after four plays Harrison carried the pig-skin over into the end zone. This time the conversion, a pass from Clifford to Miller was good. The second quarter was uneventful and the only chance the Colonials had to score was ruined by a 15 yard penalty.

With the beginning of the second half, it became evident that Jefferson's vest pocket edition of a quarter-back, Hartunian, was dynamite. So elusive was he that the Lions were chasing shadows all over the field. His sensational runs put Tarrara in a position to hang up the lone score for Jefferson.

Much to their relief, the Lions managed to corner him for most of the fourth period, but just as the game finished, he was beginning to get that dangerous gleam in his eye. Fairfax played an outstanding game and has every reason to be proud of the victory. Final score 13-7.

FAIRFAX VS. BELMONT

In the final game of the 1934 season Fairfax met their traditional rival, Belmont, and for the second consecutive season the Colonials handed the Hilltoppers a rousing defeat.

Early in the first quarter, the Colonials received a kick on the 50 yard line and in twelve plays carried it over the goal. A fifteen yard pass from Clifford to Maiser and two ten yard runs were the highlights of the drive for the first score. Clifford made the conversion. The remainder of the first half was quiet, although the Colonials had the ball in Belmont territory all of the time.

Toward the end of the third quarter, Keith Dye intercepted a pass and ran thirty yards for a touchdown. Stonebraker topped this with a nifty drop kick for the extra point.

Again in the fourth quarter a thirty yard pass from Maiser to Forte and a short line plunge by Wilson gave Fairfax its third and last tally. Stonebraker again scored with a drop kick. Belmont showed little aggressiveness throughout the game, but it gave the Colonials a fine wind-up for a season which definitely placed the Fairfax eleven among the "better half." Final score—21-0.

POST SEASON

In the big North-South tilt at the coliseum the Colonials were matched against the City League Champs, Manual Arts. To say that the Colonials played well is to speak mildly, for they had the Toilers on the defense most of the time. Before the game the usual bunch of crepe-hangers had it figured out that Fairfax was in for a good trimming.

The Colonials were in possession of the ball most of the twenty minute period and Clifford, Stonebraker, and Harrison played just as well as the much publicized Manual "Stars." The final score was North 29—South 13.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

Coach Call's Bees went forth to battle this season with a very inexperienced forward wall, but the backfield was all anyone could ask for. Intense drilling for several weeks whipped the team into such shape as to hand Redondo a 25-0 defeat in a pre-season game.

Starting the Western League season with a bang, the Bees sang a song of defeat to the Beverly Normans to the tune of 25-0. Beverly was completely taken back by the force of the

FROM LAURIE TO DANNY WITH LOVE AND KISSES!

Colonial attacks and L. Kramer, Moore, Orosal, and Platt had little difficulty in chalking up their respective scores, but only one of the conversions was good.

Suffering a complete reaction, the Babes bowed to a powerful team of Romans in a hard-fought game. The lone score came in the first half when the L.A. gridders were leading Fairfax a merry chase all over the field. Judging from the number and types of penalties the Colonials played a wild, technique-less game. In the second half, the Colonials started pulling together but they started too late for the gun popped while the Romans were still ahead.

Hamilton's varsity may have been a "weak sister" but their Babes were the scrappiest bunch that ever graced a gridiron. Most of the time they worried the Little Lions nearly ragged. Hamilton scored at the beginning of the second half when "Peanut Lowry" raced 50 yards for a score. This jolted the Colonials into action and their belated efforts were duly rewarded by two touchdowns in the last five minutes of play. Final score: Fairfax 12-Hamilton 6.

Everyone has their ups and downs and so has Coach Calls' Bees. They had to battle to keep the Redshirts at a scoreless tie. To be sure, the Colonials had more than one chance to score, but the Hollywood team had that certain something which held the Colonials back. During the first quarter, play centered about the midfield, but after that both teams made deep invasions into each other's territory. Erratic playing and heavy penalties mainly accounted for the failure of either team to score.

The Poly-Fairfax game was "accidental". After the regular season the heads of various high schools got together and flipped coins to see who would play who. We drew Poly, fourth ranking team in the Southern League. Fairfax went right through the Mechanics and rolled up a 27-0 score. There was no comparison of the playing because the Colonials were superior both offensively and defensively.

In the last game the close score of 10-7 does not indicate the way our boys tramped on Garfield. They outgained them in yardage 5 to 1, and the passing attack from Laurie to Danny Kramer was dynamite. It was acknowledged by the coaches that this year's method of arranging inter-league games was neither fair nor successful because unevenly matched teams were forced to play together.

CLASS C FOOTBALL

The greenness of this year's C squad stuck out like a sore thumb in the first game with Garfield. Loose playing cost them the first game of the season. Passes failed to click and there were some bad holes through which the Bulldogs ran frequently for large gains. Despite this disappointment, the Cees are a plucky bunch and their next game showed a decided development of "football brains." The final score was 7-0.

No one felt at all bad about beating the Hollywood Redshirts 12-0. Rossie, Fairfax full-back, covered himself with glory by blocking a punt and running 75 yards for a touchdown. In the second half, a completed pass netted the other six points. On each occasion they failed to convert.

For the first half of the Franklin game it was a question as to which team could make the worst fumbles. The playing was generally careless and poor, but in the second half the "little fellows" from Fairfax really went to town. By intercepting two passes they were able to hang up twelve pretty digests.

The easiest tilt of the season was against Venice. Every Gondolier was trying to paddle his own canoe and while they messed up their own plays, the Lions tore up and down the field scoring touchdowns. The final score was 26-7.

The Manual Toilers took the "kids" for a ride to the tune of 7-0. The game was scoreless until the last quarter and then the superior backfield of the Toilers took matters into their own hands. Both teams fought very hard, but Manual had a bit more fight left in them for the last period.

Playing on a very muddy field, the Lions were unable to hold themselves in check and went down before the Roman warriors by a score of 19-7. The teams were very evenly matched, and one cannot judge their comparative strength because of the conditions under which they played.

CASABA CHASERS

INFORMAL SHOTS OF CASABA PLAYERS TAKEN JUST BEFORE THE TIFF WITH L. A. HIGH.

FAIRFAX vs. BEVERLY

The Colonial hoopsters went into their first game a very under-estimated team, and they won from one that was equally over-estimated. According to pre-season dope, our team was nothing more than a handful of good sports who organized to give the rest of the League a work-out.

The perfect defense really won the game because the offensive wasn't much better than the Normans'. The Colonials played intermittently brilliant basketball, but they lost many chances to score. During the first three quarters, Fairfax scored more points, but, in the fourth, Beverly came to life and started a desperate attack for points. This is the place where the tight defense came in handy—because if the Lions hadn't had that to fall back on, the game would have been an entirely different story. John Swanson seems to have been this year's surprise. His smooth, steady playing attracted considerable comment. Score 29-16.

FAIRFAX vs. HAMILTON

With a score that piled up like a war-debt, the Colonials couldn't help but beat Hamilton. For some unknown reason, the first quarter was disgustingly slow. Neither team seemed to realize that there was a game going on, and it looked as if this was going to be as bad as the football game. In the second quarter the Colonials began to click, and before the half was over, there were 32 points on the score board for Fairfax. During the second half, they amassed another 27 to bring the total to 59. The Yankees lacked coordination on both offensive and defensive. In spite of continual beatings, Hamilton's spirit remains undaunted—they know "how to take it."

FAIRFAX vs. HOLLYWOOD

Again the roaring Colonial Lion was tamed by the Sheiks of Hollywood—this time in basketball. Five feet four inches of slippery human was the thing which annoyed Fairfax throughout the game. We refer to none other than Williams, the one-man team of Hollywood. If this party could have been removed we might have been the victors.

The first quarter was all Hollywood. Fairfax scored but one point to the opponents' eleven. However, in the second quarter we managed to hang up eight points. Still the Shieks weren't worried. During the third quarter, the Colonials appeared at their best and out-pointed the Redshirts 12-7, but the dream didn't last long and Hollywood won by a large score of 30-26. Williams was the whole game, for he scored seventeen points and did splendid defensive work.

FAIRFAX vs. POLY

The Lions trounced a highly over-rated Poly varsity by a score of 25-14. Early dope had it that the game was a toss-up, but Poly's offense and defense were so poor that the Colonials had little difficulty in establishing and maintaining a substantial lead.

The first quarter was slow—Fairfax scored only 5 points to the Parrot's one. Action picked up a bit in the second period and the Colonials established a sufficient lead to allow Coach Bowen to exercise his 2nd and 3rd teams for the rest of the game. During the last period Poly staged a desperate attempt to gain points, but they lacked a well-organized offensive. The feature of the game was the clean play, but as a whole it was slow and uninteresting.

FAIRFAX vs. L.A.

Again the Roman Warriors tamed the Fairfax Lions. Fairfax far outclassed the L.A. squad until late in the fourth period. At the half we were leading 18-9, but something snapped and with the score at 25-24, a Roman sneaked up out of nowhere and sank a pretty shot. This was the first Colonial defeat for the season. Maxam was high point man, and Howells and Swanson played a heads-up game.

FAIRFAX vs. VENICE

Overcoming an early lead of the Gondoliers, the Colonials sent them to a substantial defeat by a score of 37-27. The Lions were handicapped by the loss of "Pete" Provost, who fractured his wrist. Fairfax won by superb team play. Rainy weather cut down the attendance of the cheering sections, but in spite of this both teams did their best.

"A" BASKETBALL PLAYERS Include: Back row: B. Hamilton, L. Maxam, B. Welsh, P. Howells, D. Carasso, M. Cohen, N. Westgard. Front row: S. Price, F. Rollapp, J. Peck, Coach Bowen, P. Provost, B. Scholz, J. Swanson.

"B" BASKETBALL PLAYERS Include: E. Clarke, R. Johnson, C. Keithling, R. McLeon, Coach Lloyd, J. Malone, S. Hough, B. Hatfield, J. Baker, R. Hines, B. Terry, W. Warnack, A. Ellis, M. Marer, L. Mark, D. Bradlor, K. Bright, B. Van Dusen.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Coach Lloyd's Class B Basketball team made a flying start into the season by defeating the Norman Babes 56-26. Meret Maier scored on the opening play and by the end of the first half the Lions were leading 23-6. "Lefty" Hough, Fairfax center, won the tip-off most frequently and he was instrumental in the smooth, steady playing. While it was not possible to judge from this game, this year's team seemed to be a decided improvement over last year's. Hough, Hines, and Hatfield were the steady players, while Leonard Mark took care of the flashy plays.

Rallying in the last quarter the Colonials managed to eke out the Yankees by a score of 36-27. For the first three quarters it looked as if our prospective champs were going to turn out to be chumps. The offensive power was decidedly weak from the very start of the game, and by the end of the half we were trailing 19-17. This handicap increased to a seven point disadvantage when there remained only ten minutes to play. Realizing that disaster was staring them in the face, the Lions set to work—and did they go to town! During these few minutes the offensive worked perfectly—plays were carefully timed so that none of them failed. Before the final gun sounded, the Colonials had increased the score to 36 points and consequently they were able to face Hollywood with an unblemished score.

The Babes had no difficulty in trouncing the Venetians. During the first half they took the wind right out of the Gondoliers' sails by establishing an 18-1 lead. In the second half, Venice played much better, but the Lions were superior, both offensively and defensively. The final score was 27-19.

Fairfax vs. Hollywood

All Hail the Champs! By beating Hollywood, the Bees were able to trot home with the Western League Title. Early in the first quarter the Colonials managed to get a 7-0 lead, but the Redshirts collected their forces and topped the Lions by one point. In the second period a little rough-housing was started and the only points scored were from fouls. This brought the score to 9-9. At the beginning of the second half the Colonials started a whirlwind attack and they kept the Redshirts busy chasing them for the rest of the game. The lack of inaccurate shooters cost Hollywood many additional points. Every one of the boys played heads-up basketball and it was their superior playing, not the breaks, that won the game and championship.

Fairfax vs. Poly

In a close game that was filled with suspense, Fairfax lost to Poly 24-22. This gave Poly undisputed City League Championship, but it took an over-time period to get those two points. The Lions were slow in getting started and at the end of the first quarter they were trailing 9-4. In the second quarter, both teams began to tighten defensively, but at the end of this period, the Parrots still held a 13-11 lead.

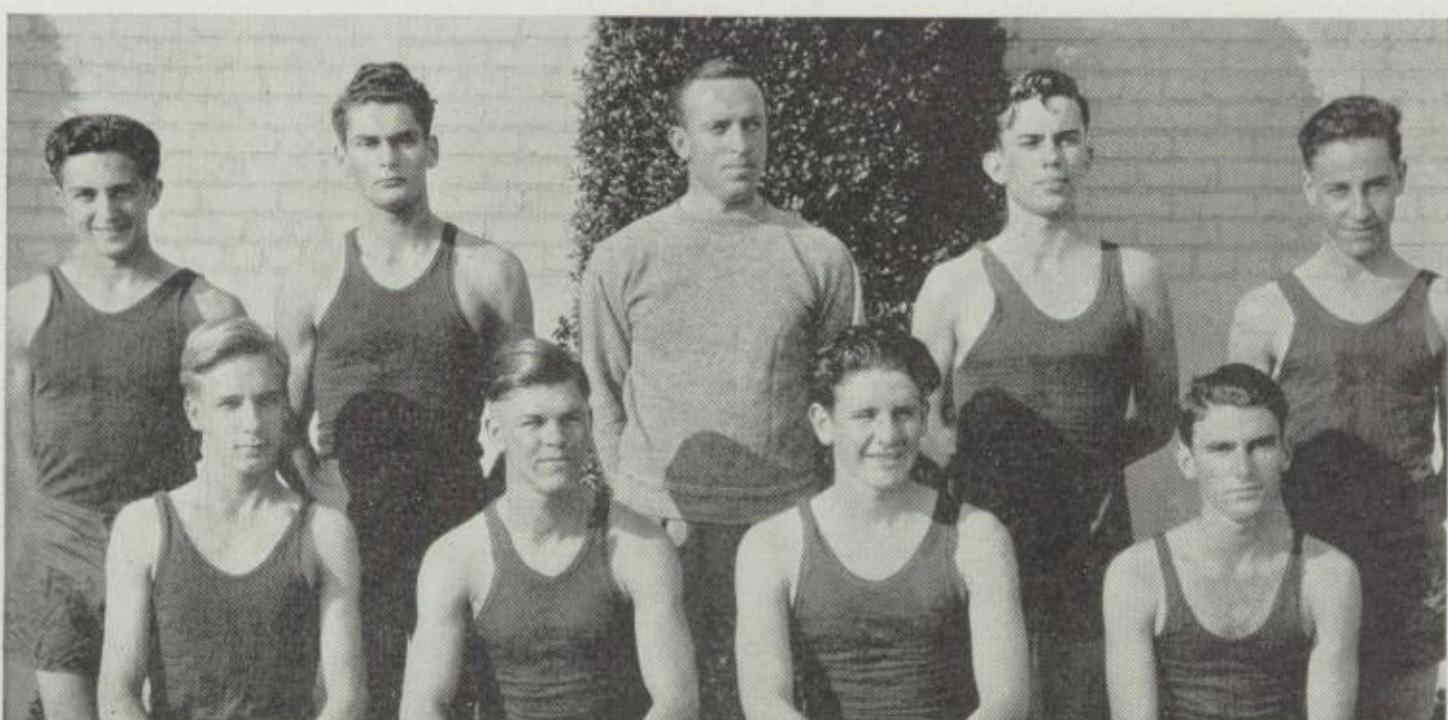

At the beginning of the second half, Bradlor sank a one-handed shot and from then on the game was nip and tuck. Until the closing moments of the game, the Colonials had a one-point margin, but a foul shot completed by Poly tied the score at 22-22. Rueda, the star of the Parrot team, made the extra score in the over-time period. To say that either team played better would be unfair because they both fought hard.

CROSS-COUNTRY

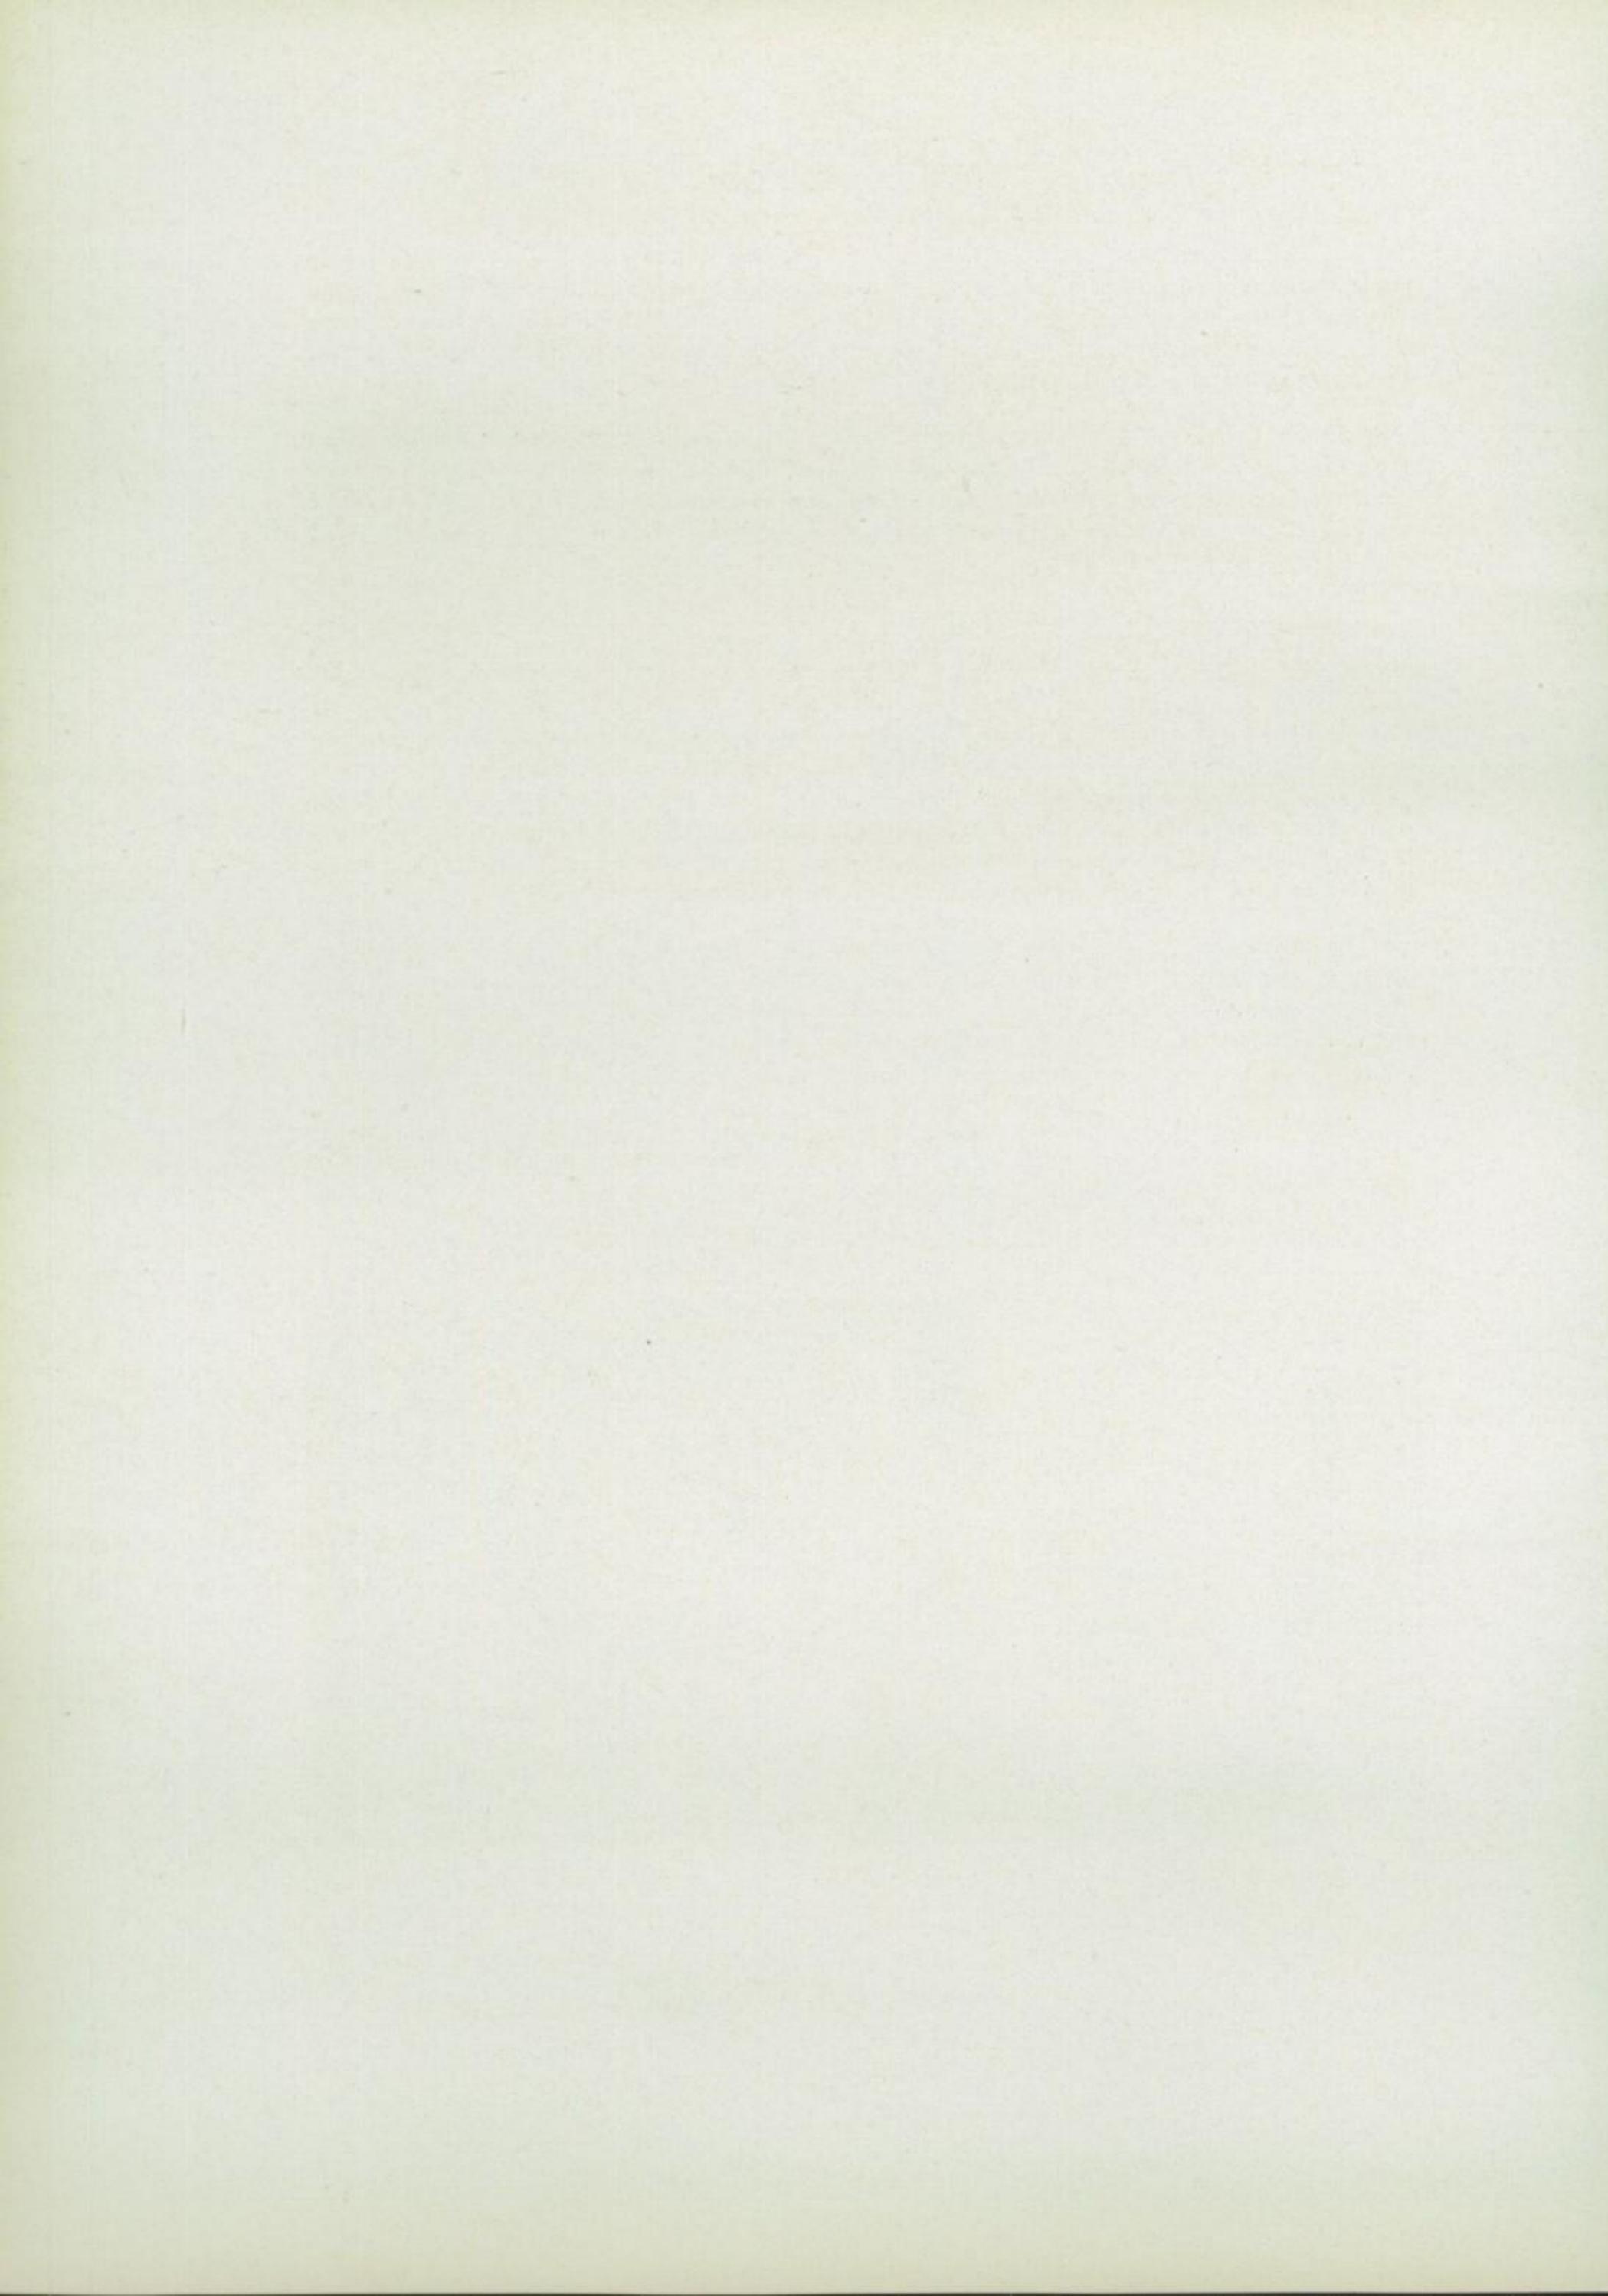

The '34 cross-country squad was fortunate in having three lettermen return, to strengthen its forces, although a lack of reserve runners was noticeable. In the first meet, the leather-lunged Colonial runners beat the L. A. Romans on the U.C.L.A. course with a score of 20-35. Avery of L.A. barely beat Fairfax's first man, Bain, to the tape. Rowe, George, Davis, and Rutledge, all from Fairfax, copped the next four places to cinch the meet. Roman cinder-ella's finished to take the seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth places.

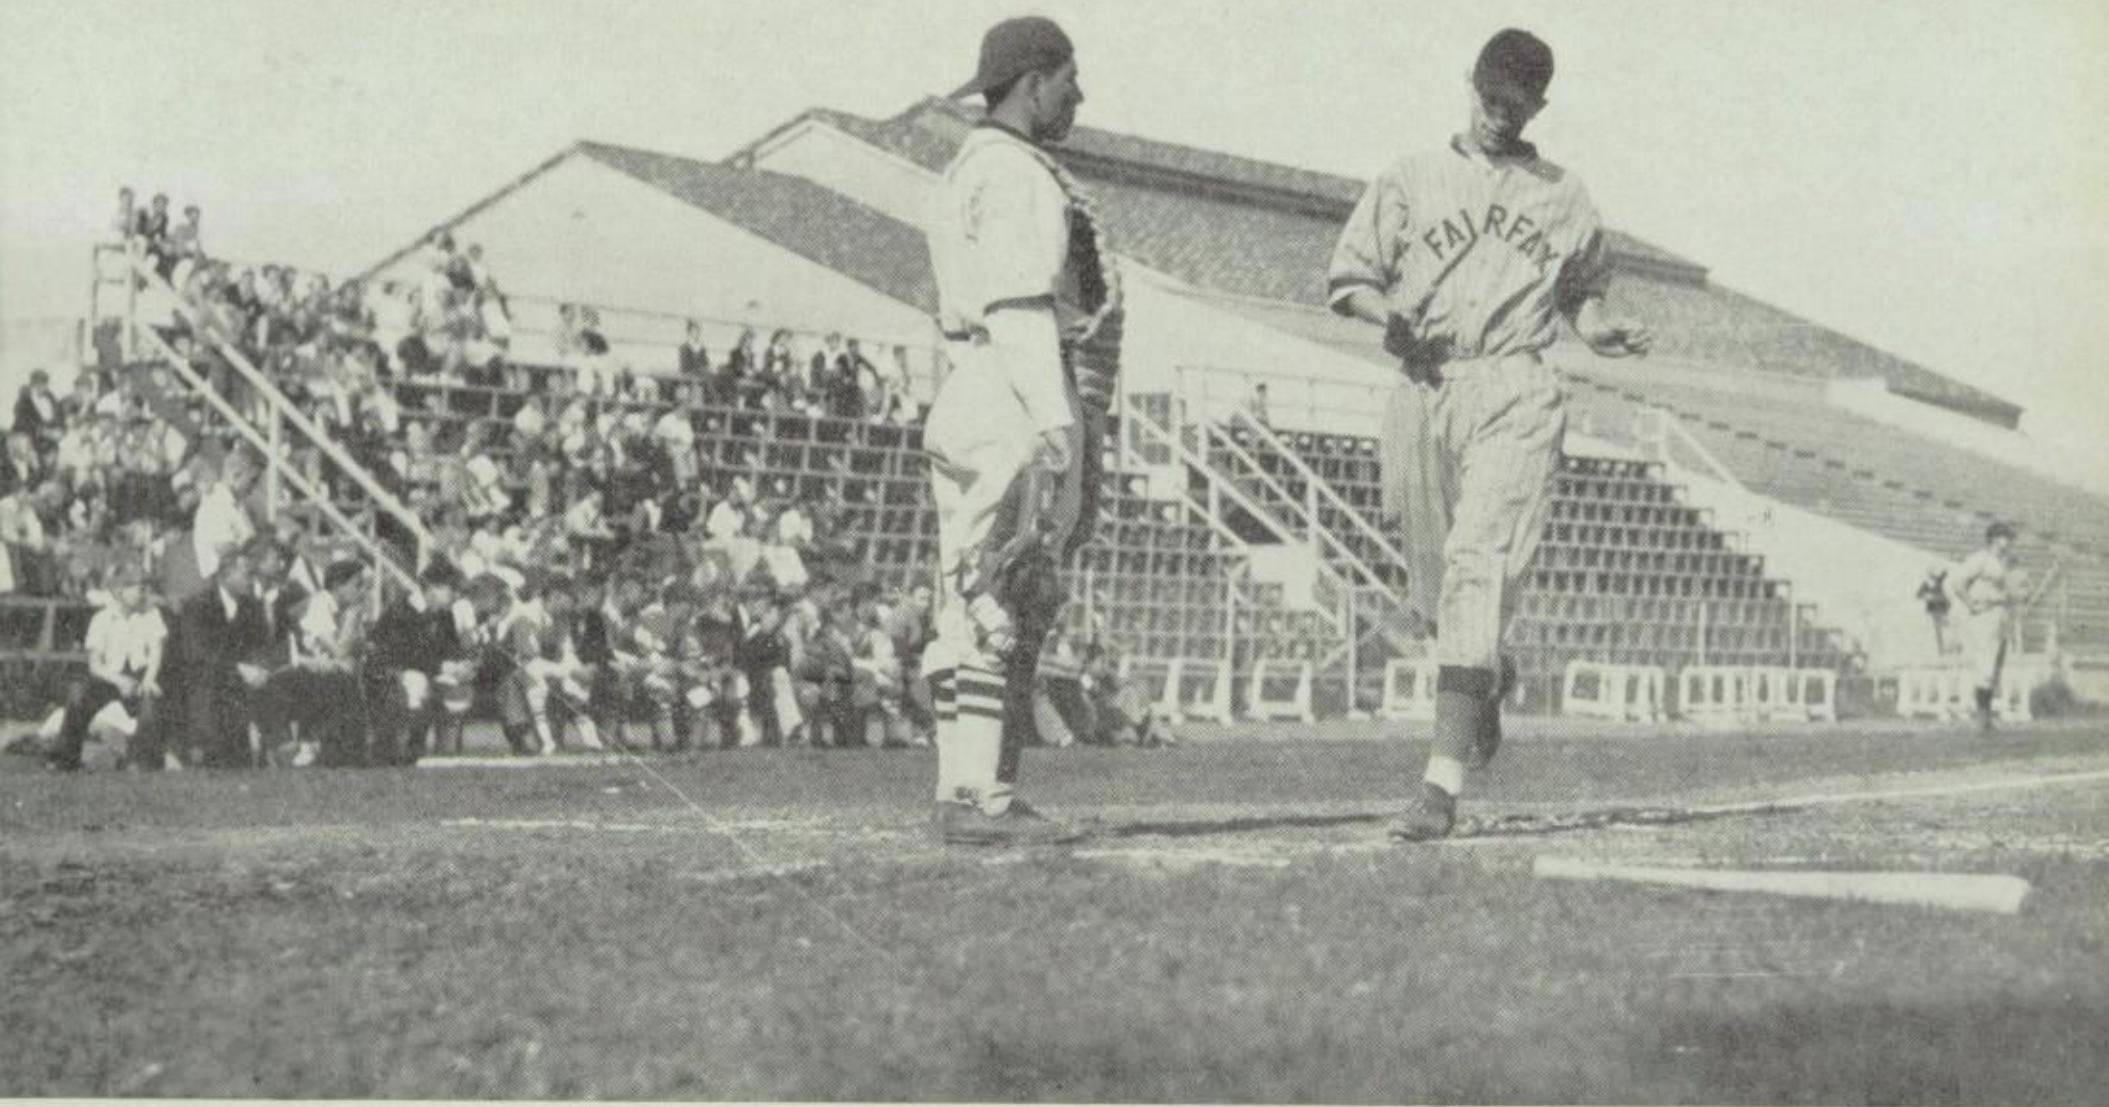

Fairfax again went to town when Coach Keith Lloyd's cross-country team defeated a powerful aggregation of Hollywood runners 25-30. The victory was quite surprising for the Colonials as Rutledge was unable to run, due to an illness. George and Krug were forced out of the race with injuries. Shaw and Robb surprised every one by placing, and helped make up for injuries occurring to the three runners mentioned above.

In the finals, L.A. took first, and Hollywood took second, while Fairfax placed third. However, Fairfax takes credit for beating both the Romans and the Redshirts in the dual meets. This year's team deserves a great deal of credit for the fine showing it has made with its inexperienced runners.

“A” BASEBALL

Fairfax vs. Hamilton

By bringing in four runs in the sixth inning, the Colonials saved themselves from what would have been a very embarrassing defeat. During the first five innings Hamilton had a grand romp all over the field—this was mainly the fault of the Colonial infield. However, pitcher Scott covered himself with glory by pitching a very steady game. In the second and fourth periods Fairfax had good chances to score, but each time something would happen to upset the apple cart. Until the last inning the Lions struck wildly at just about anything that crossed over home plate. When they finally realized that their blind hitting was about to cost us a game, they settled down to business and the final score was 5-3.

Fairfax vs. Fremont

The “boner” disease hit the Colonial ball club and every member was badly stricken. Consequently Fremont is strutting at the head of the League Parade with a $2\frac{1}{2}$ game lead. In the first half of the first inning the Colonials scored three points and in the second half the Pathfinders retaliated by hanging up two digits. For the next two innings nothing in particular happened, but the fourth, fifth, and sixth, were filled with exciting wild playing. The winning hit was accomplished in the last half of the sixth, when Gray muffed a dangerous one. Our field strongly resembled imported swiss-cheese—full of large and numerous holes. Maxam pitched well, but the Fairfax Lion was completely tamed. The final score was 7-6.

Fairfax vs. Washington

In spite of the fact that the Colonials slapped twelve perfectly legitimate hits out into the field, only five of them netted anything worth while. Walters, the Washington pitcher, was very obliging and allowed himself to be knocked nearly out of the box. In the first half of the first period Washington registered two markers before they could be squelched. In the second half of the same period “Unca Frank’s” boys were only able to score 1 point. Their ragged base running was the main cause. In the second, Hough scampered to first on a Texas Leaguer, and finally skidded home from third following a wild pitch. The deciding score was made in the fourth on a completed squeeze play. The Colonial fielding showed a remarkable improvement over the previous two games, and at no time were the Presidents a match for the roaring Lions. The final score was 5-4.

Fairfax vs. Hollywood

Doc Pash's Hollywood Redshirts invited the Fairfax Colonials to a lovely game of ball for the afternoon and to prove themselves the perfect hosts, they let us win. It was the fourth consecutive defeat for them this season. Neither team scored until the second inning and then it was but one digit apiece. In the third the Redshirts assumed the lead, but it was short lived because from the fifth period on, the Colonials romped all over our Boulevard neighbors. Despite a desperate stagger for points in the last half of the seventh, Hollywood was left on the short end of a 7-2 score. Crosthwait captured pitching honors with his creditable performance.

Fairfax vs. Venice

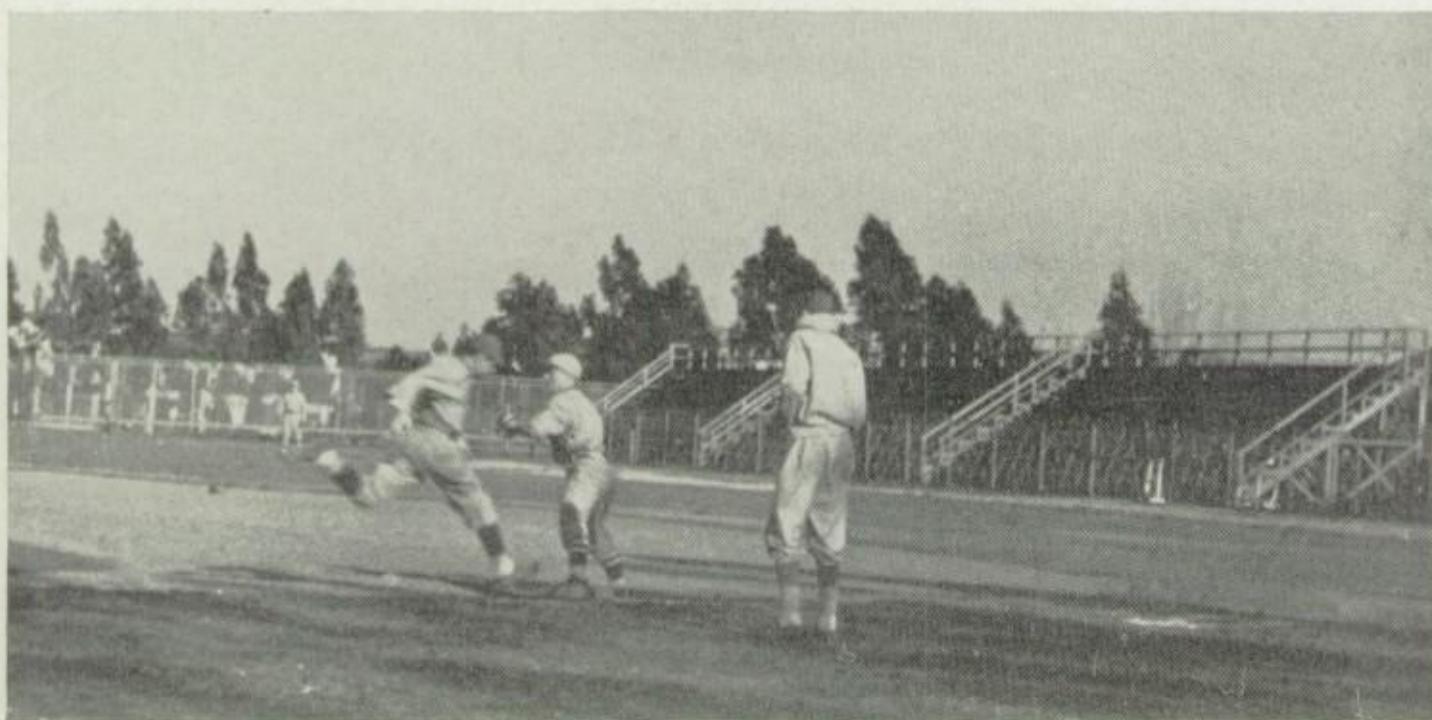

Leaving the Gondoliers paddling vainly around a dry field, "Uncle Frank's" boys trotted into the shower-room with a 16-3 victory clasped tightly in their little hands. The Venice team was acknowledged to be potential championship material until this game proved the contrary. "Lefty Maxam," who was on the mound for the Colonials, held the Oarsmen for 5 hits, but it took two Venetian pitchers to hold the Lions for fifteen. Maxam and Elkins were the heaviest hitters of the game. The Gondoliers committed only two errors but they lacked sufficient "fight" to make it a good game.

Fairfax vs. L.A.

The fighting Colonials were moved to second place in Western League standings as a result of their well-earned victory over L.A. Doug Maxam surpassed himself with pitching tricks and he kept the Romans surprised all through the game. Jack Bomke and Phil Zonne (the boy who has a baseball for a stooge) made a very credible showing on the mound. The warriors threatened to tie the 4-2 score in the last stanza, but Grainier was retired on strikes. The "squeeze" play was instrumental in the last two victories.

CLASS "A" BASEBALL TEAM Includes: Back Row: H. Goldstein, K. Dye, R. Sellers, G. McEwen, E. Crosthwait, J. Scott, D. Gray, A. Bloodgood. Front Row: J. Hanlon, D. Graves, J. Elken, S. Hough, D. Maxam, J. LaGrass, T. Blazer, H. Forte, Coach F. Shaffer.

SAFE AT FIRST

Fairfax vs. Fremont

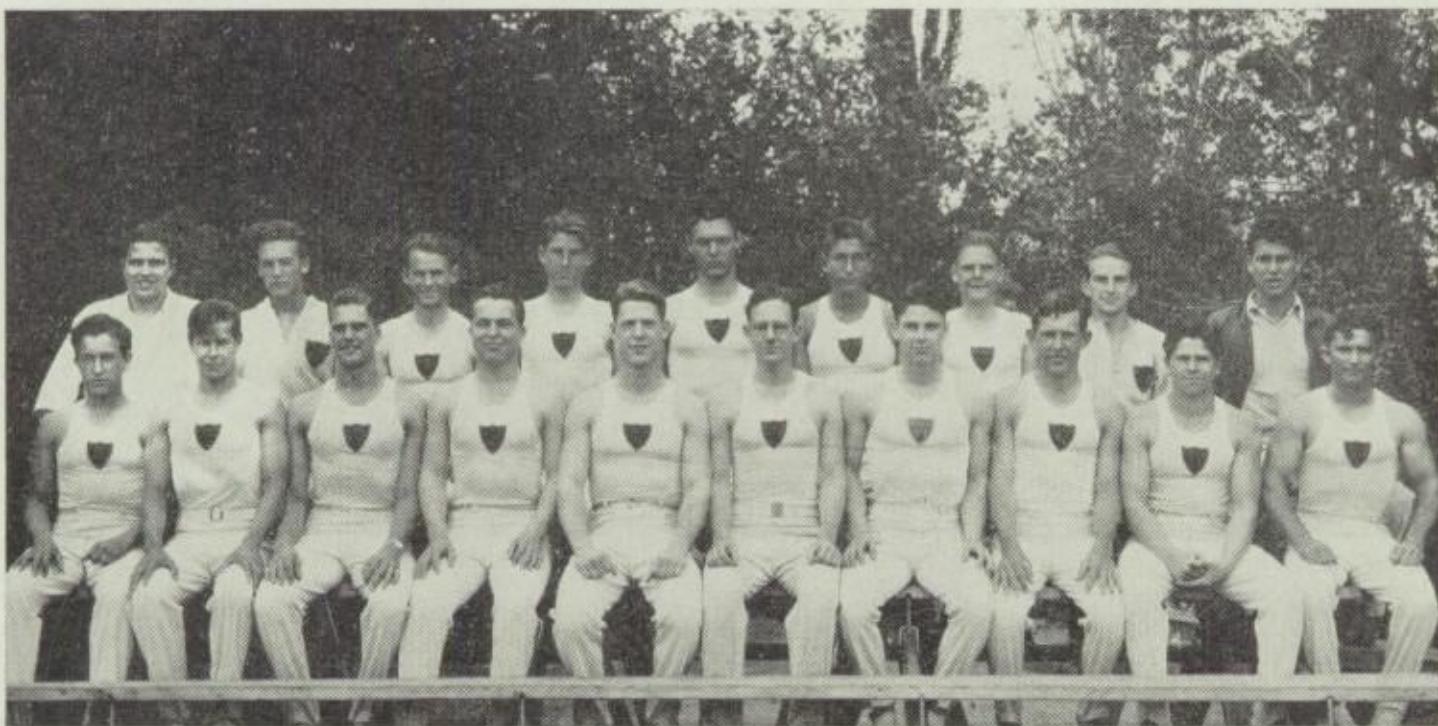

The Fairfax nine brought the attention of the entire City League to themselves by sending Fremont home with a 1-0 defeat. La Grass and Maxam pitched a no-hit no-run game, a thing unequalled by any other Western League team. Fairfax could account for but four hits, one of which was good for a tally. Both teams were fighting hard, although Fairfax was superior in stick work.

Washington vs. Fairfax

Evidently resting on their laurels, the Lions lost a very poor contest to the Washington ball club. They made a good start, but as each inning rolled by it was plainly evident that Fairfax was over-confident and lazy. It took the combined efforts of Maxam, McEwen, and LaGrass to keep the score at 8-7 because the Presidents were out to put up a battle. This was, of course, a disappointing finish after the glorious victory over Fremont, but as a whole the team acquitted themselves very well for the season.

BEE BASEBALL

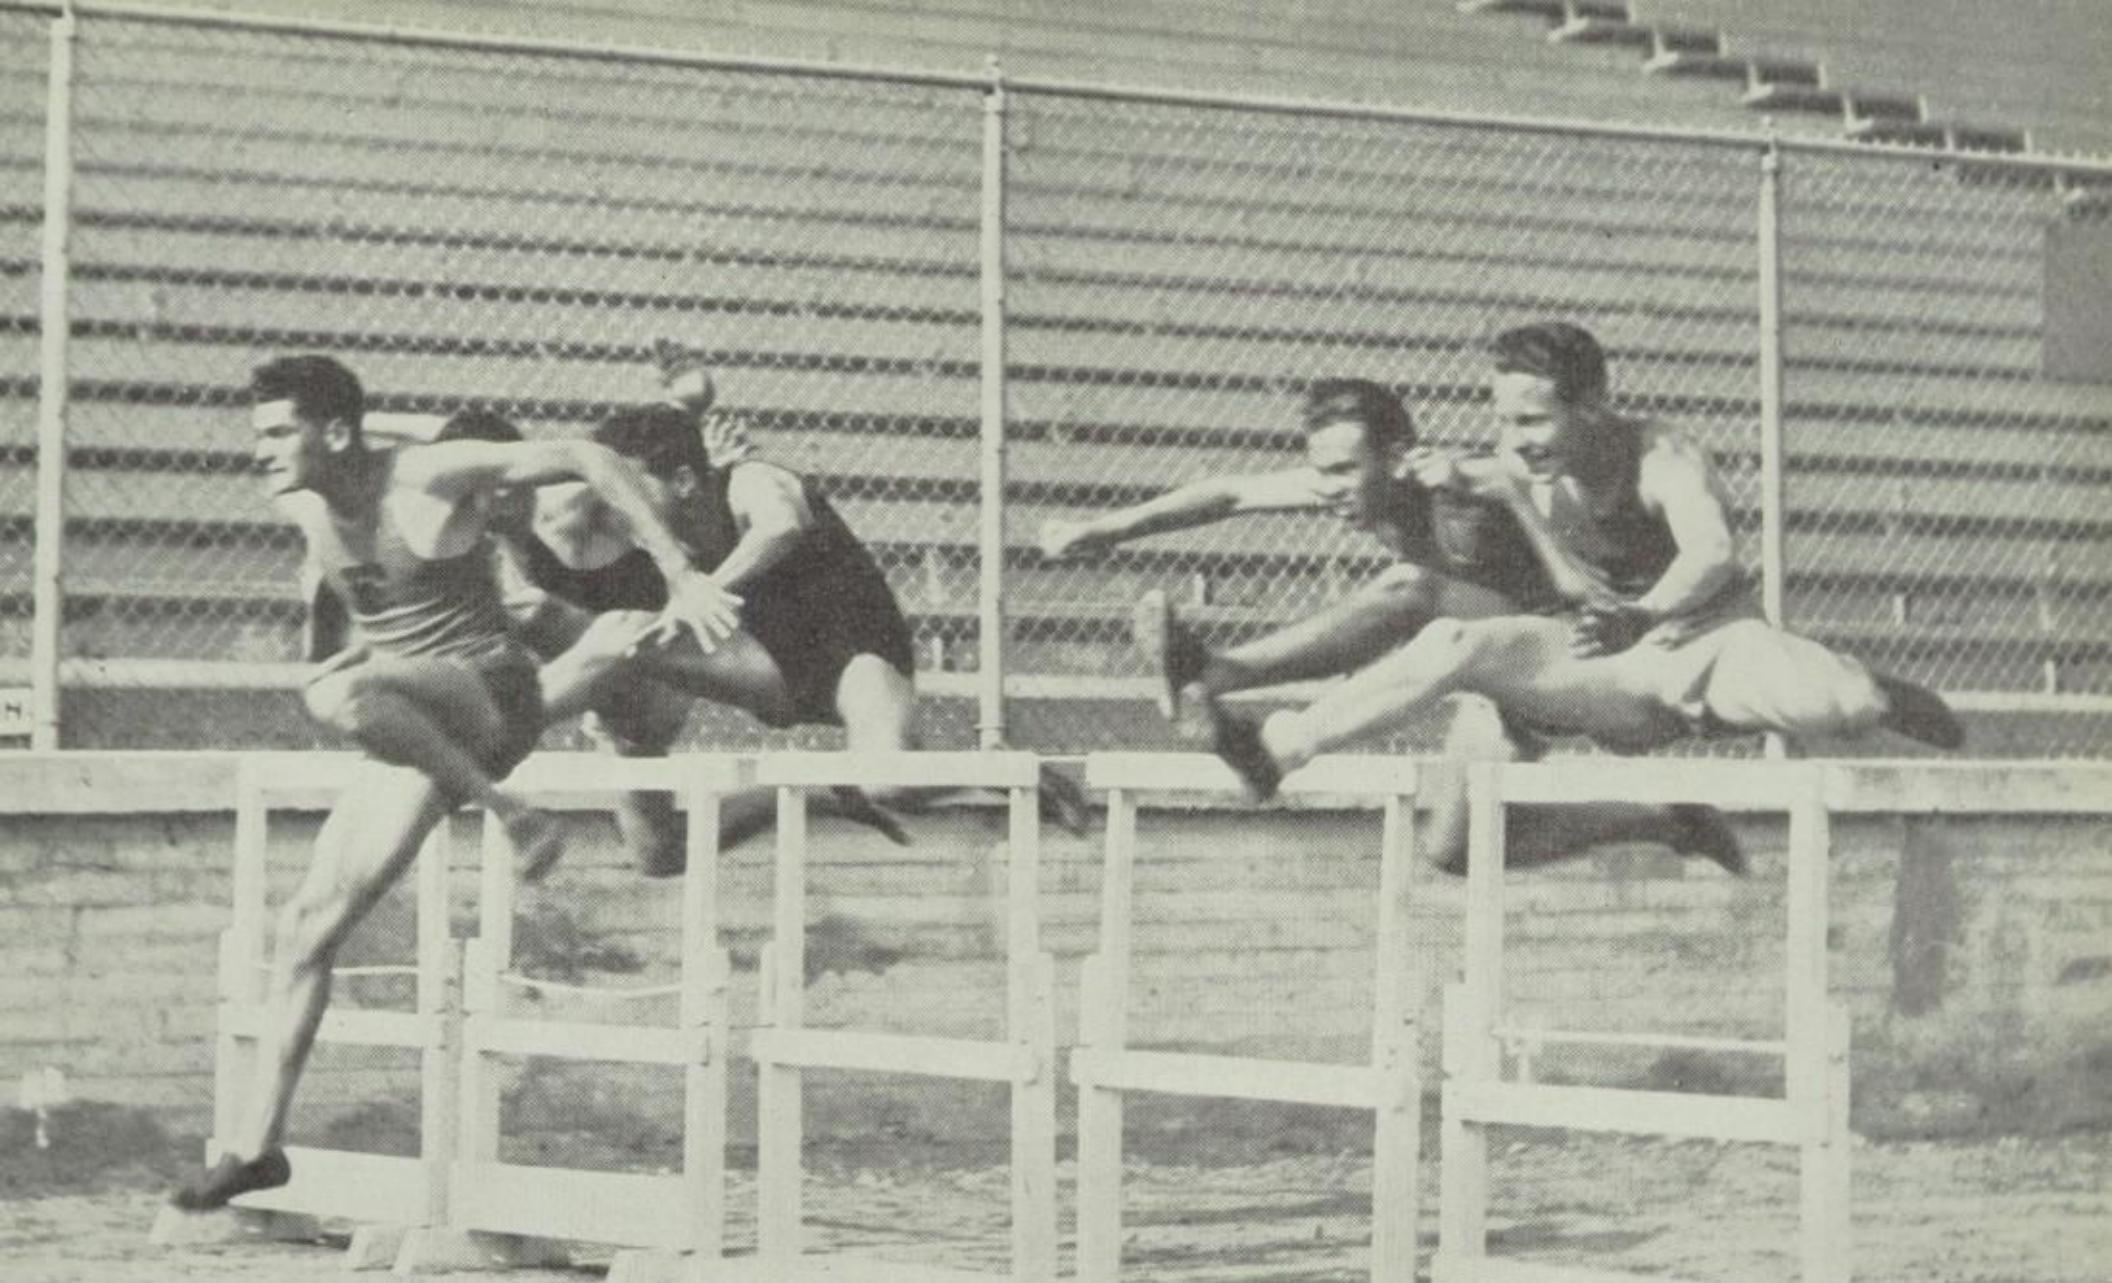

Coach Roy Bucko's Fairfax babes were considered to be the best hitting club in the league. However, numerous boners kept them from coming out on top. McEwen, Cockraft, and Rouse carried off pitching honors, and McEwen proved himself to be worthy of a berth on the Class A squad. The ninth and tenth grade team travelled to L. A. and won 10-9. Then the regular Bee Team played host to the Romans and lost 9-10. The Hamilton game was the poorest of the season. This 12-9 defeat was the most inexcusable of all because it was a careless, lackadaisical attitude on the part of our boys that lost the game. The Washington tilt, called because of darkness, ended at 2-2. Had it been necessary to decide a championship, the game would have been played over. They lost to Venice also by a score of 0-2. Riechle made two hits, but he was unable to score on either one. In the Hollywood game, the boys appeared at their best. They made the fewest errors and had the greatest margin between their's and Hollywood's score. The Varsity team has many good prospects in view with Riechel, Rossie, Whitlow, and Morrison moving up from the Bees.

TRACK SEASON OF 1935

The Colonial track team opened the season by participating in the annual city relays. The class A four-man two-mile relay team placed second and Bill Hauben, Bee, won first place with a nice leap of 6 feet.

Opening the cinder season in earnest Fairfax took on the Normans of Beverly Hills and handed them defeats in all three classes, A, Bee, and Cee. The Colonial varsity cindermen in winning by a score of 55-49 showed up with some potential stars in "Iron Man Rowe," who won the low hurdles, the high hurdles, and the broadjump, and Davis and Malone who placed 1st and 2nd in the mile in the fast time of 4:46.4, a new school record. In the Bees Johnson and Hanlon showed promise in winning the 1320 and 440 respectively, and Dud Brown won both dashes. The Cees had two nice performers in Molnar who took the 50-yard dash and the shot-put, and Newsome who took the 660.

Although Fairfax was beaten 70-34, Bill Rollins, Colonial Spikester, beat Avery of Los Angeles Hi decisively in the 880, the feature race of the day. The Colonials were outclassed but the splendid race of Rollins to win in 2:2.8 softened the defeat by L.A. Wes Cameron, Fairfax sprinter, took both dashes; Johnson, Malone and Davis scored a three-way tie in the mile for other bright spots in the meet. The class Bee and Cee teams were defeated by L.A. but showed much improvement. Silvernale of the Bees tied for first in the 660 and Bob Walker almost broke the school high jump record by leaping 5 feet 9 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. For the Cees Glen Redmond took the 100-yard dash and the low hurdles in fast times.

Taking on the Hollywood Redshirts with many stars out with injuries, Fairfax lost the third meet of the season by a score of 75-29. In the 880-yard run, Bain, Van Dusen, and Rollins, all of Fairfax, tied for first in the time of 2:4.7. Johnson placed second in the mile to unofficially break the school record. Johnson was timed at 4:41.6. Bullock and Staples vaulted 12 feet to also break the school record, but for their efforts they got only a second place. The class Bee team lost but Jack Chase tied the school record in running the low hurdles in 14 sec. flat. Johnny Martin came through with a fine finish to win the 660. The Cees won handily with a score of 53 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 21 $\frac{1}{2}$. Redmond and Schmidt stood out for the pint-sized tracksters.

Easily defeating the weak Hamilton teams, Fairfax won all three meets against the Greenshirts by large scores. As the Hamiltonians furnished no competition few good marks were hung up. The class A team won 78 2-3 to 25 1-3, the Bees won 64-31, and the midgets won 48-29. Outstanding performances were Van Dusen's 2.02 in the 880, Ashkar's 10.1 for the 100, and Parkes' 5 feet 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches in the Cee high jump.

Fairfax qualified six men for the Southern California annual track and field meet. Bob Van Dusen qualified in the class A 880, but did not place in the finals. Johnson won the Bee 1320 finals in 3:18.2 for a new school record. Davis also placed fifth in the same race. Johnny Bullock pole-vaulted into a tie for fifth at the height of eleven feet six inches for another school Bee record. For the Cees Carl Schmidt broadjumped 19 feet, 7 inches to garner a fifth place.

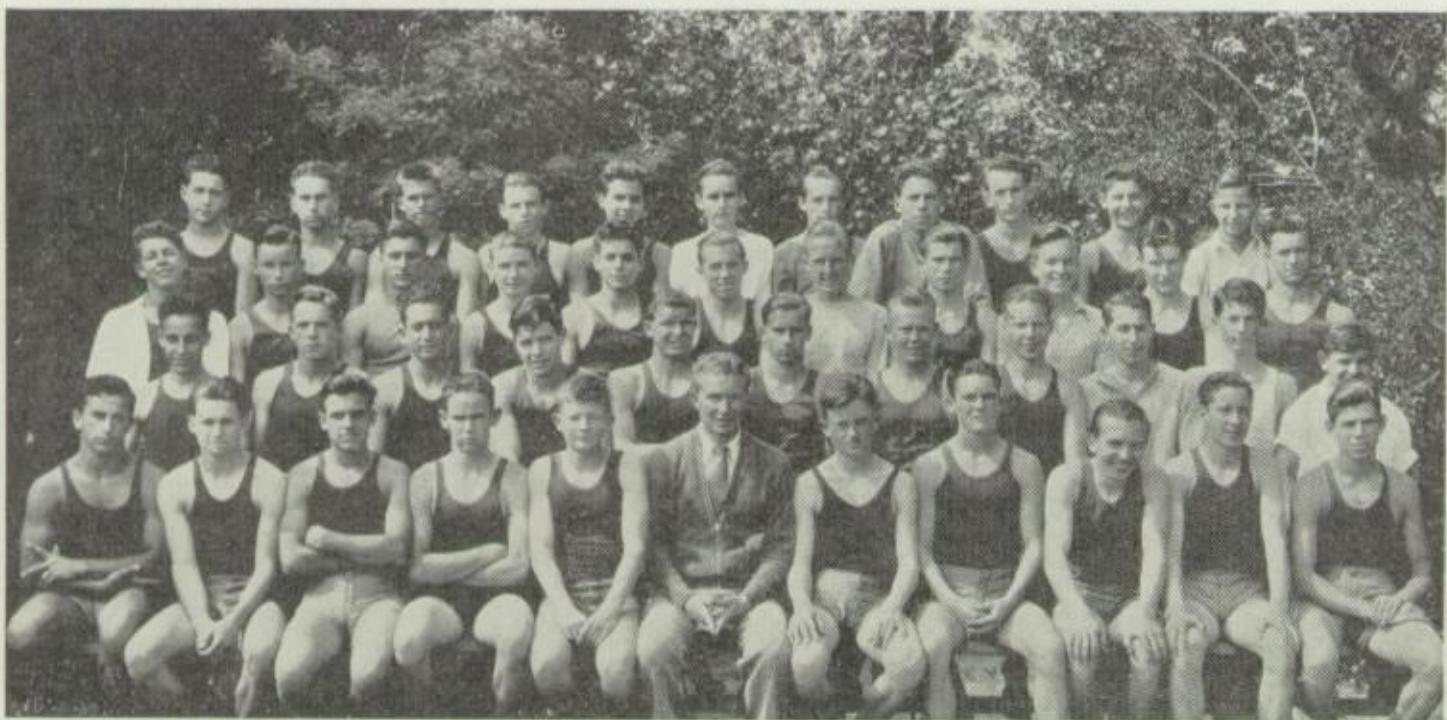

At the time of going to press Fairfax had yet to engage in the Venice meet, the Western league finals, and the City meet finals, but the teams are expected to do well in the remaining meets.

OVER THE TOP!

TENNIS

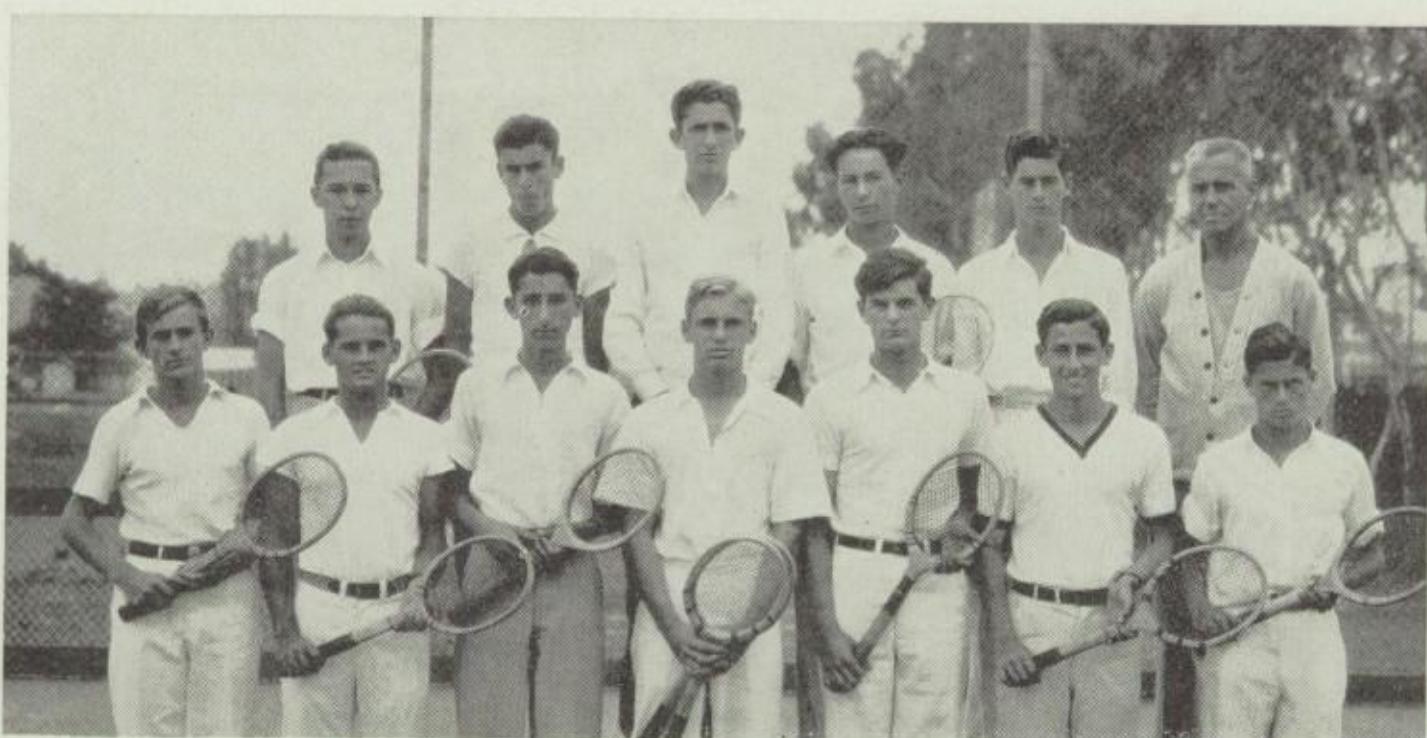

Jumping head-long into the most successful season in the history of Fairfax, the Colonial ball whackers trimmed the Beverly Normans on their own court. The score was 14-11.

Nice start—but—in the following match with L.A. on March 28, student coach, Henry Benach and his team were outplayed by the narrow margin of 13-12. There was some dissention as to the score, but assistant-supervisor Lopez ruled in favor of L.A.

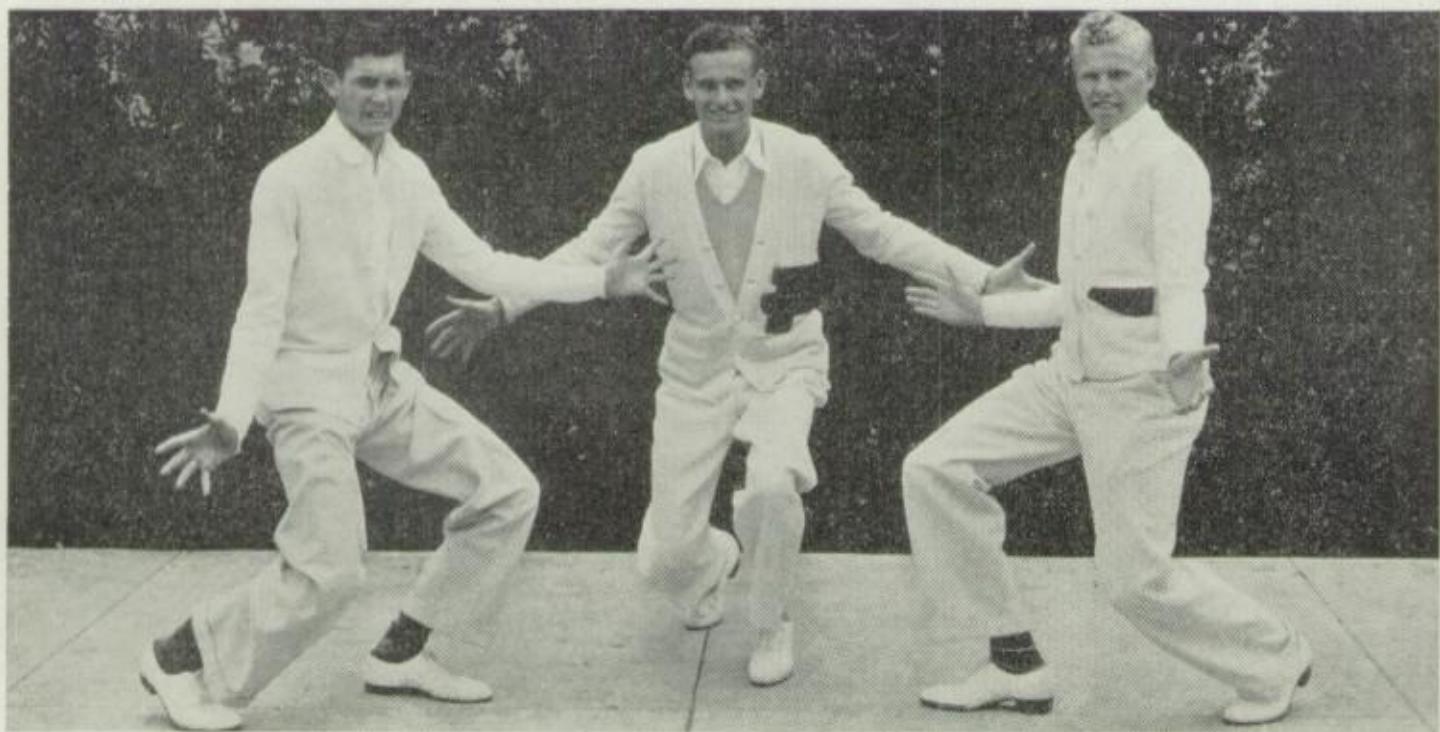

The boys made a clean sweep of the Hamilton Yankees by a score of 25-0. Riskind substituted for Joe Hunt, who had been playing in a tournament at Palm Springs. The Colonials also defeated a squad of determined Venetians by the same score of 25-0.

As usual the Hollywood game was most talked of and the best attended of the season. Fairfax came out on the long end of a 16-9 score. The success of the season was due largely to Joe Hunt, National Boys' Singles and Doubles champ. He has been playing tennis for eleven years and has won more than thirty awards.

Lest we forget there are twelve other boys on the team who played their best, and though they may not be National champs they are good players.

hands

The camera caught various hands in various Hi-noon activities. Here we have Hi-Y shoe shiners, Mr. Paxton in his daily salute to the sun, murder's row in a class room, Assize court contestants, a stooge exercise, and many more of the things that make school life remembered years in the annals of life.

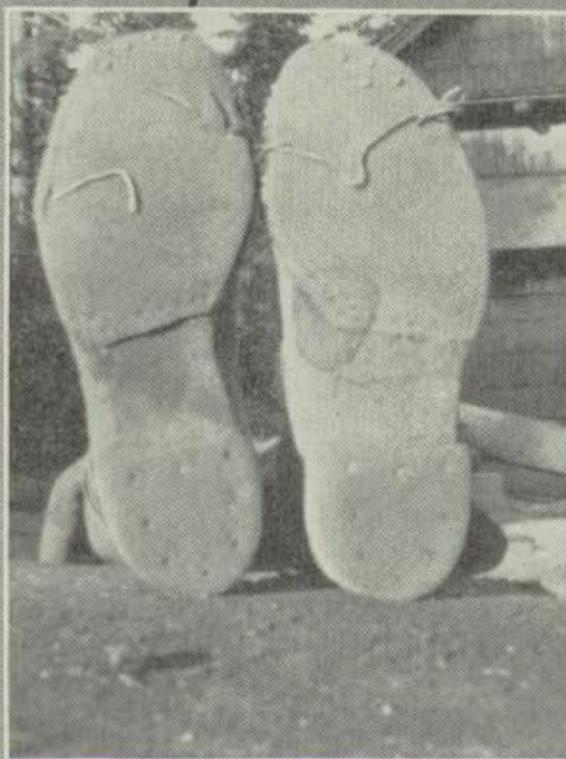

for

for

The title speaks for itself. An oozy water battle, a glimpse of the shoe shining parlor, and the mightiness of the temporary rulers of the campus are seen surrounded by laughing colonials. For a week, Hi-Y stooges were compelled to arise above the masses and lead yells and croon and go through a conglomeration of monkey-shines. (Brain storms of the regular Hi-Y funsters.)

In contrast to hands, we show some of the Colonial under-dogs. It appears that the best activity where feet play the leading role is at an angle of complete inertia. The bottom picture shows great Colonial understanding, this bootery belongs to the President of Prometheans and the eight-term members.

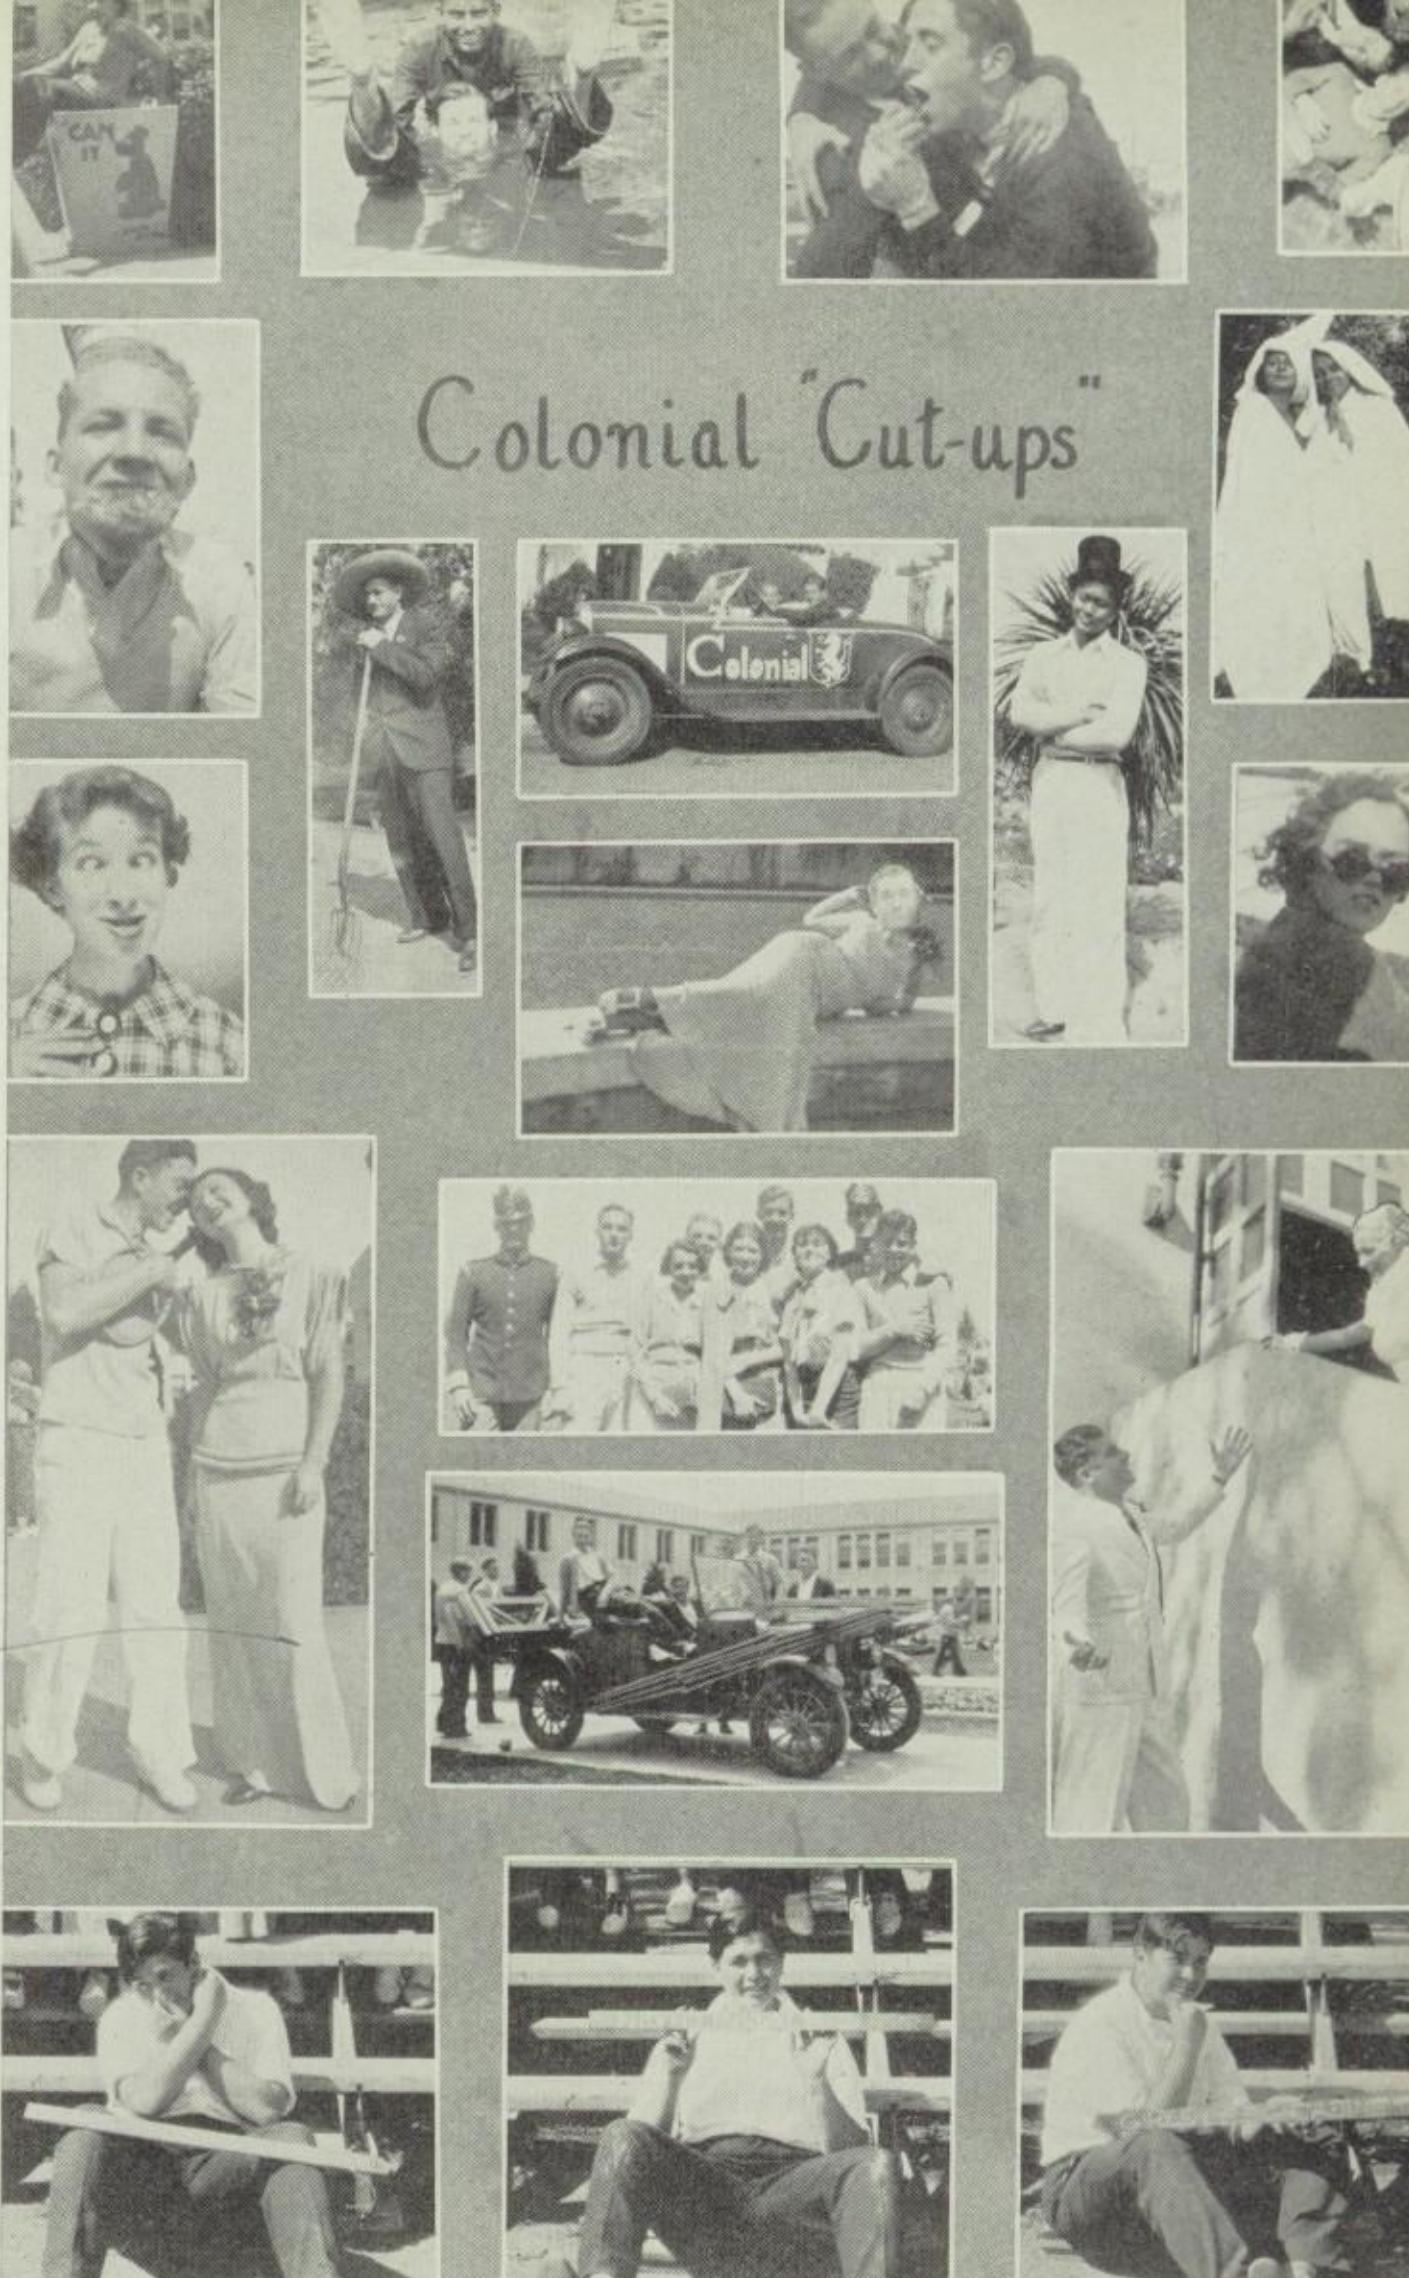

Off the Record

"Off the Record" leaves us free to show what we will, and here is Mr. Gray (with a halo), Two-Gun Sitler (with a snake curled around his foot), Mr. Koenig guarding the vegetable gardens, and below, various costumed Colonials from different assemblies.

Socs

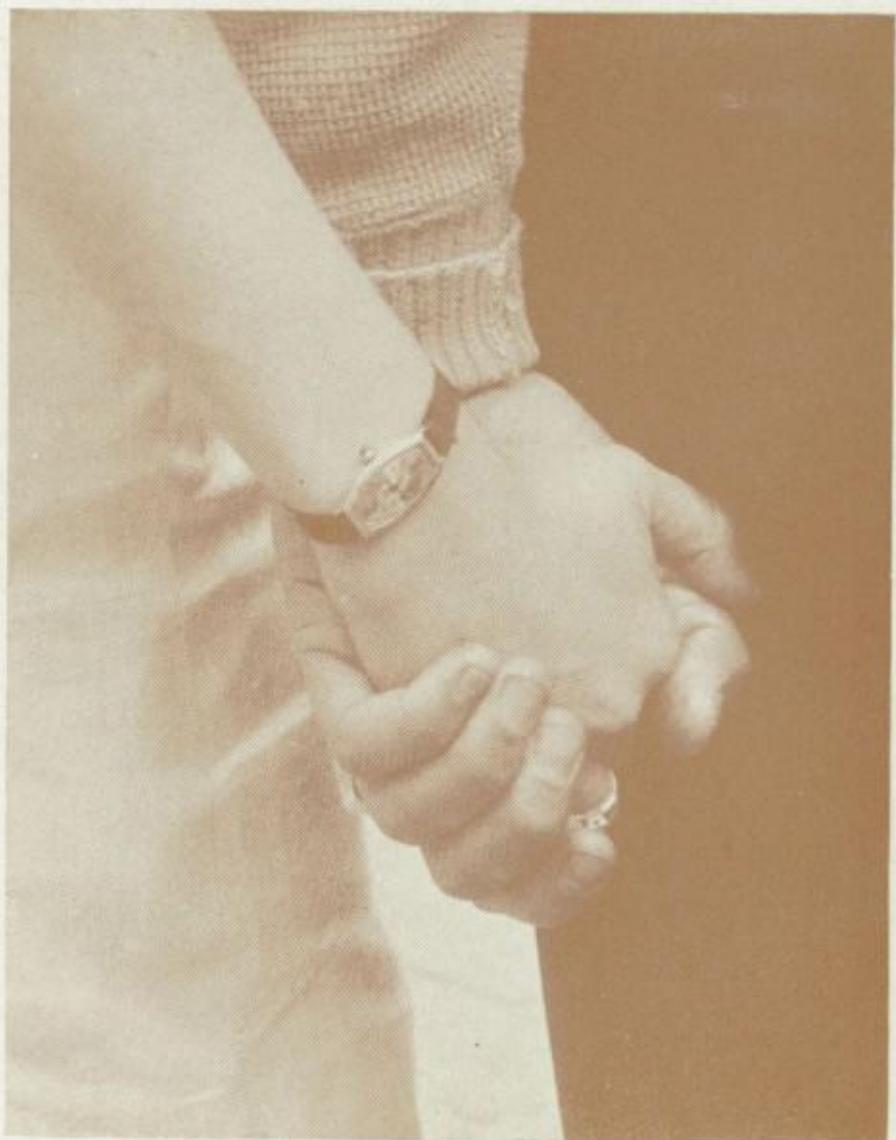

The camera goes candid and gives us shots of the new Town Crier, who is the girl imitating Ben Turpin, the staff cartoonist holding identification signs below the annual picture bleachers, romantic glimpses, and a unique picture of a football letterman decked out in a swanky formal.
